Soldier Will Fight Conviction as Spy

Sergeant Roy Rhodes Sentenced for Conspiring to Commit Espionage

Washington — (AP) — Master Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes, a career soldier who fell victim to Moscow vodka and women, says he will fight his court-martial conviction of plotting to spy for the Kremlin.

The 40-year-old sergeant was sentenced Friday night to five years in prison at hard labor after being found guilty of conspiring to commit espionage.

"I intend to fight," Rhodes told newspapermen after the court announced the sentence, which includes dishonorable discharge from the army and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

The military court of 10 officers also convicted him on a companion charge of falsifying a loyalty certificate.

15-Year Veteran
Rhodes, a veteran of 15 years military service, could have drawn life imprisonment on the first charge and one year in jail on the second. But the court decreed the 5-year term will cover both.

Both the verdict and the sentence will be reviewed by the commander of the military district of Washington, Maj. Gen. John G. Van Houten. That could mark the beginning of a lengthy review and appeal procedure that could take months.

Van Houten can approve both the verdict and sentence, throw out the verdict or reduce the sentence. He can't, however, make the sentence more severe.

From Van Houten, the case probably will go to an army board of review and possibly to the court of military appeals, the supreme court of military justice. Rhodes' lawyers also hinted they might take the case into civilian courts.

The lanky sergeant stood erect as the verdict was read but then slumped in his chair. He received the sentence later with outward calm. But his slender, brunette wife, Ola, and his sister, Mrs. Arlene Brown of

Code of Ethics Proposed for U. S. Agencies

Follows Testimony About Wire-Pulling For Seat on FCC

Washington — (AP) — A code of ethics for government regulatory agencies was proposed today following testimony about the use of wire-pulling in an effort to land Richard A. Mack on the federal communications commission.

Jerry W. Carter, Democratic national committeeman for Florida, told a house investigating subcommittee yesterday he pulled "under cover, all the wires I could" to get Mack the job on the bipartisan commission.

Mack, an Eisenhower Democrat, was appointed to the FCC in 1955 by President Eisenhower. At the time, Mack headed the Florida railroad and public utilities commission, of which Carter is a member.

The 70-year-old Carter, a free-wheeling witness with cracker barrel wit, was asked to testify in connection with charges that undue influence was exerted on the FCC in granting a Miami TV license. The hearing was in recess until Monday.

Positive Need
Rep. Bennett (R-Mich) said he feels the evidence so far "has indicated a positive need for legislation which would set up a code of ethics for all regulatory agencies."

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) said in a separate interview it is "pretty obvious" there is a need for either a code of ethics or legislation.

Carter, who testified he was very fond of Mack, was called to testify in connection with charges that Mack received upwards of $2,650 from a Miami attorney linked with one of four parties seeking a license for Miami's channel 10, now a multi-million dollar television property.

U. S. Communist Convicted Again

Greensboro, N.C. — (AP) — Julius Irving Scales, Carolina's communist party leader, was convicted a second time in federal court Friday of knowingly belonging to an organization (communist party) that teaches violent revolution.

Judge Albert V. Bryan pronounced a 6-year sentence, same as he meted out after Scales' 1955 conviction.

Appeal notice was filed and Judge Bryan allowed Scales to remain free under $20,000 bond.

Scales, 37, announced a few months ago he had abandoned his party membership, largely because of Russian suppression of the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

Steinle Quits Court To Consider Seeking U. S. Senate Chair

Surprise Move Indicates Jurist May Make Race as a Republican

Madison — (AP) — In a surprise move Friday Justice Roland J. Steinle announced his resignation from the Wisconsin supreme court, saying he will consider seriously suggestions that he become a candidate for the U. S. senate.

In the event he makes the race Steinle, 61, will become the first major opponent of Sen. William Proxmire, who scored an upset last year when he won a special election and became Wisconsin's first Democratic U. S. senator in 25 years. Proxmire was elected to complete the term of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.). The term ends next January.

Steinle submitted his resignation to Gov. Thomson, who said he was taken completely by surprise.

The resignation becomes effective March 2, and Steinle was not expected to announce any party affiliation until after that time. However, it was believed that in the event he makes the race he will run as a Republican.

"In recent months," Steinle said in his resignation, "I have been urged by many people to become a candidate for the office of U. S. senator. Before being selected for judicial work, I participated for 18 years in matters of party politics. I like people and I like politics."

Two Candidates
Republican leaders called on him recently, urging that he make the race. But he declined at that time saying that a member of the supreme court should resign before announcing plans to run for any other office. He said to do otherwise would be unethical.

Steinle was long active in Republican affairs and in 1938 sought election as lieutenant governor under the GOP banner. He later served as chairman of the Milwaukee County Republican organization.

Argentina Will Vote Tomorrow

First Free Election For President in More Than Decade

Buenos Aires — (AP) — Argentina votes tomorrow in the first free presidential election in more than a decade, which pits provisional government supporters against backers of ousted Dictator Juan Peron.

All campaigning ended last night in the presidential race and contests for legislative and provincial posts. Provisional President Pedro Aramburu planned a midday message to the nation.

Because of Argentina's complicated ballot system, which guarantees minority parties a legislative voice, results of anything less than a landslide might not be known for days.

The big question is whether Arturo Frondizi has attracted enough Peronist support to defeat Moderate Ricardo Balbin, who has the provisional government's tacit support.

Only Balbin and Frondizi among the 13 presidential candidates are given a chance. The winner will take office May 1 for a 6-year term.

Frondizi is backed by an incongruous coalition including communists, left-wingers, workers, fascists and Peronists. Former members of Peron's government, as well as the provisional government members who kicked Peron out in 1955, are barred from running for office.

Roland J. Steinle

without reputations, have announced they will seek the GOP senatorial nomination. They are Ray H. Dittmore of South Milwaukee, and James O. O'nderdonk of the Madison suburb of Blooming Grove, where Proxmire also makes his home.

Justice Steinle, a native of Milwaukee, said that he will join his son in law practice after his resignation takes effect. He added that he will also spend part of his time writing law books.

Ike to Make 8-Hour Stop at Phoenix as Mamie Plans Vacation

Thomasville, Ga. — (AP) — President Eisenhower decided today to visit Phoenix, Ariz., tomorrow for about eight hours. He will fly his wife there for a vacation at a fashionable beauty resort.

Announcing plans for the trip aboard the president's private plane, Columbine III, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the first lady is going west for some sun and rest.

Asked at a news conference whether she is planning any beauty treatments at the swank Main Chance farm operated a few miles from Phoenix by Cosmetics Manufacturer Elizabeth Arden, Hagerty shot back: "I don't think she needs any."

The press secretary then went on to say that the first lady will visit friends in staying at the Arden establishment, and get some sun.

Mrs. Barbara Wolfson was named in a case charging an illegal wiretap Friday by Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan in New York. Hogan said a short-wave radio transmitter was hidden last fall in the bed of Mrs. Wolfson, wife of Cecil Wolfson, whom she is suing for separation. Four men were indicted in the case. (AP Wirephoto)

Report Bizarre Scott Case Plot

Uncover Alleged Plan to Bury, Then 'Find' Human Arm

Los Angeles — (AP) — A bizarre plot to bury and "discover" a human arm in an attempt to free L. Ewing Scott, convicted of murdering his missing wife, was reported yesterday by the district attorney's office.

Two men have been arrested. Police Capt. Arthur Hertel said he was told that the idea back of the plot was that the arm would constitute new evidence, Scott, 61, under a life sentence, is in the county jail pending appeal.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Manley J. Bowler identified one man arrested as Frank Massad, whom he described as an investigator for Scott's former attorney, P. Basil Lambros.

The other man being questioned, Bowler added, is Richard Mowrey, who described himself as a private investigator.

Falsifying Evidence
Massad, arrested in Lambros' office, was booked on suspicion of falsifying evidence. Late last night he was released on $2,500 bail.

Bowler said Lambros "is not a party to the conspiracy," and Lambros told newsmen: "I'm not involved in this thing."

Hertel said he learned that a severed arm was to have been injected with blood of the type of Mrs. Evelyn Scott, and her wedding ring or a duplicate was to have been put on a finger.

Then, Hertel said he learned, the arm was to have been planted on the beach property of William Brawner.

500,000 Persons Jam Cairo To Hear New Leader Boast Of Power Found in Unity

Cairo — (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser assumed the supreme leadership of the United Arab Republic today and told a cheering throng the union of Egypt and Syria is a mighty weapon in the Arab world.

A pushing, shouting crowd of 500,000 persons jammed Cairo's republic square to hear him speak. Earlier officials announced that plebiscites in Egypt and Syria yesterday almost unanimously approved the merger with Nasser as president.

"The unity which is realized today," Nasser said, "is a big weapon of which we are proud. It is a weapon of the future with which we could face the common enemy who fought against unity, trying to sow dissension among us."

Fireworks burst overhead and airplanes dropped parachutes carrying pictures of Nasser down into the streets.

Scores Fainted
So tightly was the mob packed that scores fainted and police had to use their belts and heavy ropes to beat back enthusiasts who tried to push toward the speakers' stand. Students fought each other with straw bottom chairs and women became hysterical.

More than once it looked as if a mass panic and stampede would occur.

In Damascus, capital of Syria, there was rejoicing with demonstrations and parades. Horsemen dressed in native costumes galloped through the streets waving swords and shields.

The Syrian government of President Shukri Kuwailid quit in Damascus earlier today as Syria became a province in the union. Syrian Premier Sabri Assali offered to stay on with his caretaker government until

Dispute Marks State Meeting Of Farmers Union

La Crosse — (AP) — Despite opposition Kenneth Hones, president of the Wisconsin Farmers Union, was among 16 men nominated Friday for election to the nine places on the organization's board of directors.

Efforts to block renomination for Hones, of Chippewa Falls, produced one of the two major controversies that marked the first session of the 27th annual convention, attended by delegates from 34 counties.

The other major exchange came as delegates debated the length of directors' terms, an issue that was taken to court for settlement last year.

Hones is in his 25th year as head of the organization. His first opposition developed eight years ago when opponents sought to oust his administration. Remnants of the opposition have returned to the convention almost every year since.

Nasser appoints an executive council for the province.

Nasser—the former president of Egypt — assumed virtually absolute powers in the new republic.

The official results of the yes - no plebiscite announced from Abdin palace overlooking republic square were:

On the union of Egypt and Syria, out of 6,102,375 Egyptian voters, 6,102,128 approved, equal to 99.99 per cent.

On Nasser as president, 6,102,116 Egyptians approved, also 99.99 per cent.

On union, out of 1,312,798 Syrian voters, 1,312,759 approved, 99.98 per cent. On Nasser 1,312,808 Syrians approved, 99.98 per cent.

The sweeping approval had been a foregone conclusion.

Warplanes Hit Rebel Capital, Two Strongholds

Indonesian Air Arm Gears Attack to Snap Communications

Singapore — (AP) — Indonesian warplanes today bombed the rebel capital on Sumatra and two other major strongholds, knocking out their radio links with the outside world, rebel sources here said.

In the second straight day of air attacks on the rival regime, central government planes hit the rebel capital of Bukittinggi, the Sumatran city of Padang and the rebel capital in the north Celebes, Menado.

Revolutionary government sources in Singapore said the bombing attacks silenced the radio stations of all three points but there were no casualties.

Stations Off Air
Both Padang and Bukittinggi stations still were off the air tonight.

The first exchange of fire between the rebels and the central government was reported when units of the small Indonesian air force swept in for a bombing and strafing attack on the airfield at Padang after hitting the radio station.

Rebel sources said on the second sweep over the field, rebel forces opened fire on the planes with 50 caliber machine guns. There was no report whether the planes were hit.

3 Men Killed in Crash On Aircraft Carrier

San Diego, Calif. — (AP) — A plane crashed and exploded on the aircraft carrier Shangri-La off the California coast, killing three navy men and injuring two others, the navy has disclosed.

Killed Instantly When His Car Hit a tree on Winnebago County Trunk A, six miles south of Neenah, at 2:45 this morning was Walter C. Rawson, 22, Sheboygan. He was headed south from Neenah to Oshkosh and left the road on a curve. The car flew 106 feet through the air after hitting a culvert and then rolled 51 feet into the tree. (Story on Page 13. 414 Children Receive 'Shots' At First Clinic

Second New London Immunization Center Set for March 21

New London — Local physicians gave inoculations and vaccinations to 414 children of the New London area Friday morning and afternoon when an immunization center was held at Washington high school, according to Miss Georgia Schantz, city nurse.

Miss Schantz pointed out that parents, whose children received the smallpox vaccination, should return to the March 21 clinic so the arms of the children can be inspected by the physicians.

She also stressed that those children who received the first in a series of the combined inoculations against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough must attend the second center on March 21 for another inoculation.

She explained that three inoculations are needed to complete the immunization.

May Still Begin

Parents, who were unable to bring their children to the first center, can start the series during the March 21 center and complete the immunization at the office of their family physician about one month after the completion of the public health clinics.

Vaccinations and booster inoculations also will be given during the March 21 center.

In charge of the immunizations were Drs. J. W. Monsted, H. C. Schmalenberger, F. J. Pfeffer and George Dornbach.

Assisting were nurses Miss Schantz, Miss Kathryn Heigl, Waupaca, and Miss Loretta Rice, Mrs. Harry Millard and Mrs. O. W. Capener, New London.

Volunteers were Mrs. Lawrence Graves, Mrs. Ted Miller, Mrs. Paul Palmer, Mrs. Robert Patchen, Mrs. Eldred Judd, Mrs. Everett Klinking, Mrs. Orville Johnson, Mrs. Alfred Nelson and Mrs. V. A. Ganz.

City Cage Loop To End Season's Play Sunday

Kaukauna — Competition in the City Basketball league will be concluded Sunday afternoon at the high school gymnasium. The first place spot is already settled, but second and third place are indefinite.

Gustman's, league leaders with 13 wins and one loss, will tangle with Farrell's bar, seven wins and seven losses, in the second game of the afternoon. Farrell's must win if it hopes to finish among the top three.

The opening game will have Arnold's, seven wins and seven losses, battling Thilco, four wins and 10 setbacks. A win for Arnold's coupled with a loss by Farrell's would eliminate the latter from the select circle.

Shamrock bar, eight wins and six losses, could still be tied for second by both Arnold's and Farrell's if the latter two win and the Irish stumble in their game with Nagel's bar, three wins and 11 defeats.

Bush League Topped By 222-586 Scores

New London — John Braatz paced the Bush Bowling league at Prah's alleys with a 222-586 for Price Agency as the team won three lines from Mares Produce.

Herb Westphal hit a 208-singleton for Standard Feeds as the team won a 3-liner from Ollie's Bar. Outagamie Produce Co-op won two lines from Bear Creek Cheese and Service Motors won two from Leisch.

Farm Bachelors won two from Reis General Store.

Locks Foremen Will Tour Appleton Plant

Combined Locks — The meeting of the Combined Locks Paper company Foremen's club will be at 6:30 Monday evening at Lamers Tea Room in Little Chute.

The session will follow a tour of the Appleton Wire Works plant at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Sodality to Say Farewell to Pastor

Weyauwega — St. Ann's sodality will hold a farewell party at the parsonage Sunday for the Rev. Walter Tuschel, who is leaving Friday for his new parish at Jericho.

Change Card Parties

Leeman — The series of public card parties to be sponsored by the Wolf River Beavers 4-H club scheduled for Tuesday evenings has been changed to Wednesday evenings at the Leeman school. The first party will be held next Wednesday.

Embarrass Church

Embarrass — The sermon for the 9:30 Sunday morning worship at the Embarrass Congregational church will be "Paul, the Pioneer of the Gospel." The Rev. H. C. Feldt will be the guest pastor.

Green Bay Cheese

Green Bay — There were no sales at the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange Friday. Bids were placed at 34 and 34 1/2 for pasteurized single daisies but were withdrawn before the close of the session.

Clintonville Birth

Clintonville — Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Estlund, Clintonville, are the parents of a son born on Thursday at the Clintonville Community hospital.

Cynthia Peterson Honored for Work

Waupaca — Cynthia Peterson of Scandinavia has been chosen to represent Waupaca county as the outstanding girl Holstein raiser at the annual meeting of the Fox River Valley Holstein Breeders association.

She was selected for her excellent work in the 4-H club dairy project last year. She will be awarded a show halter by the association.

Church Groups to Meet

Waupaca — The Elizabeth group of the First Baptist church will meet at 7:30 Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Meyer with Mrs. Sanford Paulson as the leader.

The Esther group meets at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Mrs. Josie Christanson as the leader.

Mission Society Meets

Clintonville — The Mission society of Christus Lutheran church met at the parsonage with Mrs. E. C. F. Stubenvoll and Mrs. Helen Adams as hostesses.

The March meeting will be at the church with Mrs. Fred Beckman and Mrs. Henry Borchardt as hostesses.

Heart Drive on Sunday to End Fund Campaign

Over 100 Volunteers To Canvass City in Attempt to Meet Goal

Kaukauna — The 1958 Heart fund campaign in Kaukauna will be concluded Sunday as over 100 adult volunteers will canvass the city for a house-to-house collection.

Volunteers will wear identification tags and carry a supply of contribution envelopes, according to Fred Reichel and Dick Eslien, co-chairmen for the drive. "The workers are organized on a ward basis with captains or co-captains in each ward responsible for volunteers," according to Reichel.

Heading the campaign in the First ward will be Arnold Vandervoort while Jewell Toms and Wilbert Kobussen will serve as co-chairmen in the Second ward. Carl Weigman and Norm Meinert will be in charge of the Third ward drive and Jim Gertz will handle Fourth ward workers. Jack Staley will be captain in the Fifth ward.

Other Workers — Contacting business places will be Mrs. Alice Schell on the northside and Miss Blanche Gerend on the southside. Other workers for the Heart fund include Edward Schmidt, treasurer; Victor Haen, business chairman; Elwood Kobussen, rural chairman; Walter Rutten, Sr., city chairman; Dave Dean, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Mayme Lefevre, in charge of securing volunteers.

Eslien pointed out the quota of $2,200 for the city as he urged everyone to be generous in contributing to the cause. Proceeds are used to support work against the heart and blood vessel diseases, said the co-chairmen.

Eslien said about 75 per cent of the money collected by the Heart association remains in Wisconsin for the support of state research, education and community service programs. A total of almost $27 million has been channeled into research in the nine years since the association has been organized as the only voluntary public health agency devoted exclusively to the cardio-vascular diseases, concluded Eslien.

Entertainment Planned During Booster Game

Kaukauna — Special entertainment is being planned between halves of tonight's booster basketball game between Kaukauna and New London High schools at the local gymnasium, according to Guy Krumm, athletic director.

Wrestlers taking part in the high school mat program or a PeeWee basketball game are tentatively scheduled as half-time activities along with band selections by the Kaukauna High school musicians under the direction of Elwood Bleick. The game is expected to be close as the Ghosts took a narrow 7-point decision in the first meeting between the clubs but New London pulled a major upset last week by defeating Two Rivers and will be out tonight to avenge the earlier loss.

Card Party at St. John School

Little Chute — The St. Elizabeth society of St. John's parish will sponsor a card party at 7:30 Sunday evening in the grade school gymnasium.

Mrs. Peter Hermesen, Mrs. Susan Hermesen and Mrs. Roman Salm are in charge of the card games while Mrs. Joseph Driessen will handle prizes. Mrs. Lett Jansen and Mrs. Cy Ebben are in charge of lunch and refreshments and Mrs. Richard Gerrits will handle tickets.

Hostesses Named for Royal Neighbor Meeting

Kaukauna — Hostesses named for a meeting of the Royal Neighbors of America at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Union hall will be Mrs. Ralph Kuehl, Miss Carrie Gilkey and Mrs. Michael Oliva.

Cards will be played and a social hour held after the business session.

Area 4-H Club Will Observe National Week

Kaukauna — Members of the Spirit of the Valley 4-H club are making plans for special projects to be carried out the week of March 18, National 4-H Club week.

A special meeting will be held March 18 with a guest speaker to be present. Club members will carry out community projects, one of which will be bringing books to the Riverview sanitarium.

The group voted to stress safety and health this year and members received project sheets and health and safety slips at the last meeting. It also was announced the club won second place with a wigwag display during "Join a 4-H Club Week."

Biff Vander Velden showed movies at the last meeting and Tom Reinke prepared the lunch. Demonstrations of 4-H projects were given.

COF Members to Take Communion

Little Chute — Juvenile forersters of St. Johanna court No. 555 will receive communion with the women members of the same court at the 7:30 mass at St. John Catholic church Sunday morning which will be family communion day at the church.

Masses will be said at 5 o'clock, 6:10, 7:30, 9 o'clock, 10:30 and 12 o'clock.

Confessions will be heard this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock and this evening from 7:30 to 8:30.

Firemen Answer Calls For Overheated Motors On Washer and Dryer

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna fire department answered two fire calls Thursday, both of a minor nature with little damage reported.

The first call was made at 12:30 in the afternoon to the William Glasheen residence, 210 W. Ninth street, where an electric motor on a washer overheated. The second call at 6:20

Shawano JVs Tip Kimberly In Thriller

Indians Count 20 Free Throws in 52-50 Triumph

Kimberly—Batting down to the wire the Kimberly junior varsity team dropped a narrow 52 to 50 decision to Shawano Friday night here.

It was a close game all the way until the final minute when the Indians pulled to a 6-point lead. Kimberly fought back and cut the margin with two quick field goals in the last seconds but could not overcome the margin.

Shawano led 9 to 7 at the end of the first period but the Papermakers came back with 20 points in the second frame to tie the score at 27-27.

In the third period Shawano scored 10 while Kimberly counted 11 to take a one-point lead. However that melted in the final quarter when the Indians began to hit consistently from the free throw line.

Shawano had 20 of 30 free throw tries while Kimberly had 14 out of 20. The Papermakers scored 18 from the field to 16 for Shawano.

Paul Timm was high for the Indians with 17 points. Tom Rooyakkers, freshman playing his first jayvee game led the Papermakers with 14.

The box score:

Amateur Radio Operation Is the hobby of Dick Lindner, Brillion. He has been licensed for about two years. Two of his friends, Conrad Kopitzke, right, and Clifford Pfluger hope to achieve their licenses in a few months. (Jentink Photo)

Brillion Ham Operator Started Career Through Scout Work

BY MRS. HAROLD JENTINK — Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Lindner seldom have to worry where their son, Dick 16, is. He's a licensed ham radio operator and spends at least 30 hours of a week in the basement of their home in front of his equipment.

Spending much time with Dick are two of his friends, Conrad Kopitzke, 15 and Clifford Pfluger, 16, who hope to become hams within the next few months.

Dick became interested in the hobby through Dave Huelsbeck (W9DBF) of Menasha when they met at the Valley Council Boy Scout camp at Gardner Dam about two years ago. The boys were on the staff and Dave would often reach his parents and other friends at home via radio.

To qualify for a license Dick had to be able to send and receive international Morse code and acquire knowledge of the Federal Communications Commission rules as well as some basic radio theory.

Missionary Council to Have Charge of Service

Assembly of God Women's Group to Have Special Day

Kaukauna — Women's Missionary Council day will be held Sunday at the Assembly of God church with the women in charge of the 10:30 morning service. Sunday school class will meet at 9:30 in the morning.

The Rev. Walter Tyson, pastor, will speak on the theme, "The God of Deliverance," at the 7:30 Sunday evening service. Prayer meeting will be held at 7:30 Thursday night. "Keep Yourself Under Cultivation," will be the sermon

Identification that hams send each other the first time they speak together. Dick has made contact with hams in 22 states mostly in the east and middle west. He has also made contact with a ham in Canada.

Dick, who does most operating on a 75 meter phone, keeps a log of the hours and messages sent. This is required by the FCC.

A general class operator can give the test for a novice or conditional license. Within the next three months Conrad and Clifford hope to take their tests.

Conrad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldor Kopitzke. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pfluger says being hams runs in the Pfluger blood. His two brothers, Glenn of Norfolk, Va., and Wallace, Fond du Lac, both had short wave receivers when in high school.

Besides their parents, the boys are being encouraged and helped by their science teacher, Roy Wentzel. The boys are active members in the science club at the high school where Dick serves as secretary.

Through this hobby Dick has met many boys from the Fox river valley and often they meet in one of their homes for an "eyeball chat."

Young People's society will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the basement assembly room. The pastor will speak on the theme, "The Role of Judas in Jesus' Passion," at the 7:30 Wednesday evening lenten service.

Sunday morning services at the Bethany Lutheran church will be at 7:45 and 10:15 with the pastor, the Rev. R. J. Muehl, speaking on the topic, "Let Us Come to the Throne of Grace." Sunday school and Junior Bible study class will meet at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Sunday school teachers meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening and the Walther league will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening. "Your Redemption—Its Cost" will be the pastor's sermon topic for the 7:30 Wednesday evening lenten service.

Methodist Church — Services at the Methodist church will be held at 10:45 Sunday morning with the Rev. speaking on the theme, "In the Beginning God." This will be the first in a series of lenten topics on the Apostles Creed. Sunday school class will meet at 9:30 in the morning.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet at 5:30 Sunday evening, the Membership Training class will meet at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and choir rehearsals for the Junior and Senior groups will be held at 6:30 and 7 o'clock respectively Wednesday evening.

A meeting of the Pastoral Relations commission will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night and the Methodist Men's club will meet at 6:30 Thursday evening.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

George Washington Prayed Morning and evening. He was seen on his knees in his library with the Bible. Many prayers were written in his hand. When he heard of the Declaration of Independence, he wrote: "Almighty God. We make our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep the United States in Thy holy protection; that Thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to . . . entertain a brotherly love and affection for their fellow citizens . . . to love mercy and to demean ourselves with that charity, humility and pacific temper of mind which were the characteristics of the Divine Author . . . without a humble imitation of whose example in these things, we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication, we beseech Thee, through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen." (AP News-features)

Strive for Solution To Lake Fly Problem

Sturgeon Kill Increasing on The Big Lake

Walleye Fishing Also Improving Slightly, Game Warden Says

BY CHUCK WRANOSKY
Outagamie County Game Warden

Sturgeon activity is picking up on Lake Winnebago. Although the action is only fair, fish are being speared and about 200 have been taken so far.

Wranosky

The best success has been off the east shore with Stockbridge and Brother-town leading the way. Walleye fishing has also improved.

Cold weather is still holding down fishing action and Poygan and Little Lake Butte des Morts are slow along with New London and Stephenville. Warm weather will be our best bet to improve fishing.

One error I would like to correct is that sturgeon fishermen may also fish with two lines while spearing.

Question—Must I have a fishing license to fish if I am over 65 years of age?

Answer—Yes. The license is free, however, and may be obtained from your county clerk or conservation warden.

Question—What is the proper way to measure a fish?

Answer—In a straight line from the tip of the tail to the end of the snout.

Question—Is there a season on clams?

Answer—Yes. In our area the season is from June 1 to March 1, no bag limit and a size limit of not less than 1 1/2 inches in greatest dimension.

Question—When and where is it illegal to spear rough fish?

Answer—From March 2 to April 20 including such counties as Outagamie, Brown, Calumet and Shawano.

Question—What should I do thief.

Researchers Hope to Come Up With Control Method to Give Relief to Winnebago Residents, Vacationers

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

Long-suffering summer residents on Lake Winnebago can look to the future a bit more hopefully these days in respect to their annual struggle with the lake fly.

And anglers, fearful for the food supply of their beloved bass and walleyes if the lake fly larvae disappear, need worry no more, for there is assurance that plenty of food will remain for the longest underwater chow line.

This happy state of affairs, it might be pointed out, comes at a time when there is no specific program set forth to combat the swarming, buzzing hordes of insects.

But forces are at work. Studies Underway

Dr. Ernest A. Strakosch, Oshkosh, president of Winnebago Lake Fly Research, Inc., says studies are underway to determine if there is a way to reduce the lake fly population to a point where they will not be a nuisance to area residents but, at the same time, still will sustain game fish which use the larvae as food.

Individual interest or lack of it depends largely on whether you live on Lake Winnebago's shore the year around, spend a couple of weeks there in the summer or if you seek out its walleyes in the cool of a July evening.

Regardless, the lake fly represents a problem of no minor dimension.

Some residents say they come twice a year—in the spring and again in early August.

There is no definite time. Suddenly they are there. Great gray-brown swarms of swirling, surging life. They cling to col-

if I see someone violating the state conservation laws?

Answer—Write down the violator's auto license number if you can see it or get his name and all the facts of the violation and turn them over to your local warden who will investigate the complaint.

The game law violator is a thief.

tages, turning white ones black. They crunch under your feet as you walk along lakeside paths and a hundred or more will flit into your car in the split second it takes to open and shut its door.

Fishermen, however, know their worth.

Bass Grow Fat

Walleyes and bass grow fat feeding on the larvae. If lake growth is such that feeding conditions are poor, there is always the lake fly to provide food. It's comforting if you are a fish—or a fisherman.

Dr. Strakosch says studies currently are underway to evaluate chemicals effective in the control of larvae and adult flies.

Sportsmen have voiced fears that use of chemicals might render the lake unfit for fish or dangerous to humans, but Dr. J. Daniel Palm, a member of the Oshkosh state college biology department working on the project, says nothing will be proposed which might hurt fish or humans.

Dr. Robert Dicke, professor of entomology at the University of Wisconsin and chief of the lake fly research project, says use of larvacides and insecticides to combat the fly would come only as an emergency measure.

Emphasis, apparently, is being placed on the possibility of non-chemical control methods.

Control Methods

Dr. Strakosch said the conservation department and the state water pollution committee would not permit use of chemicals or other control measures which might be detrimental to the lake's fish population.

The 1958 phase of the research program probably will include tests of various larvacides in lakes which are destined to be treated by the conservation department for rough fish control. This procedure may reveal the proper larvacide concentration necessary to control larvae and the effect of chemicals upon fish.

Group to Study Forest Taxes

Crop Law Tax Now Set at 10 Cents Per Acre in State

With the question raised at the last session of the legislature as to what tax private owners of forest lands should pay under the state forest crop law, Conservation Director L. P. Voigt has appointed a committee of 11 men to study the subject of forest taxation and make recommendations.

The forest crop law tax is now set at 10 cents an acre plus a severance tax of 10 per cent of the value of the standing when cut. Bills before the last legislature proposed raising the tax to 25 cents. The legislature took no action in changing the tax rate.

The study will be made in cooperation with the federal lake states experiment station, St. Paul.

Members of the committee are James T. Morgan, St. Paul, forest economist of the lake states station, Ellis T. Williams, Washington, D. C., forest economist with the U.S. forest service, Harold M. Groves, professor of economics, University of Wisconsin, Charles W. Loomer, associate professor of agricultural economics, University of Wisconsin, Emmet B. Hurst, Wisconsin Rapids, chief forester for the Consolidated Water Power and Paper company, Carl Wallin, Solon Springs, forester for the Jackson Box company, F. G. Wilson, Wisconsin consulting forester, S. W. Welsh, Wisconsin superintendent of forest management, E. W. Erdlitz, administrative assistant of the Wisconsin conservation department, Forrest W. Gillett of the D. J. Mackie, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Forestry

Population Creating Fish, Game Problems

Conservation Commission Chairman Says Wetlands Purchase Number One Project

Wisconsin is a leading state in what it has to offer in outdoor resources but problems grow with population and it is necessary to set up priorities to give adequate weight to projects that offer the most in long range benefits, according to Leonard J. Seyberth, Eau Claire, chairman of the Wisconsin conservation commission, in explaining the commission's program.

Seyberth declares that Wisconsin citizens have a greater outdoor inheritance than they had 50 years ago. He points out that Wisconsin has more than 5,000,000 acres of publicly owned land that is held for the general welfare. He adds that Wisconsin is the largest owner of land adjoining water and that Wisconsin is the second state in the union in its water wealth.

Wetlands Shrinking

With the rapid shrinking of wetlands, Seyberth stressed that wetland acquisition has been given top priority by the commission. He explained that the state emergency board has released $360,000 more from the fish and game funds to buy wetlands.

With 600,000 additional people, Advisory committee, as secretary.

A university study resulted in 1945 in a recommendation that the tax be reduced from 10 to five cents. The committee in arriving at an equitable tax will consider such factors as present day stumpage values and management costs.

The forest crop law was enacted to promote forest management and the fixed tax rate set to protect forest owners from fluctuating property where the flow in cool feeder tax rates on a crop of long-streams is reduced is still to be term maturity.

Memories Help Angler Through Long Winter

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A snap of cold weather chains a man as it does a bear. It causes him to burrow a little further down in his den and sets his thinking wheels into gear.

Far back in the mind there is a warm sun shining. A brook still gray with the waters of spring thaw is laughing over a rocky rapids and in the midst of all this is the fisherman, alone in his kingdom. Slowly his scene shifts as he fishes the bends and pools where that rainbow or brown is lurking.

Gray Squirrel

Swiftly the time passes as he picks out a high rock with the shade of an oak as a spot for a noontime rest and bite of lunch. Overhead a gray squirrel chatters wondering why his solitude is broken by this stranger.

The mind suddenly changes pattern and the fisherman is tossing a lure in a wilderness stream, never fished by man before. Lunkers battle furiously as the hook digs into a gaping mouth.

Want to think of what it would be like to battle the king of Wisconsin fish—the muskie? The mind is quick to respond and it ferries the fisherman to a lake in seconds.

Stories he has heard tell the fisherman that it will be the thrill of his life should he latch on to a big fish. Like magic the mind supplies the monster in the shadows of some weeds. He makes a slow move to the lure as it passes and on the next cast he slams into it with blazing fury.

Arms aching, hands wringing wet and perspiration dripping the fight at last is over. The prize is gaffed and lifted into the boat. There is another flurry as the fish threatens to wreck the boat and then all is still. He is yours.

The fisherman loves the outdoors. He sees it as beauty. The clear, blue sky, the scent of pine while sitting around a campfire are the treasures to be found.

The man who can dig into his mind for memories of happy moments in the outdoors need never worry about being lonely.

Even the coldest blasts of winter can't freeze out his memories. When the elements let little to be done in the open, sit down in your easy chair with a pipe of your favorite brand. Your blood will churn as you relive those days in the outdoors.

Section 7

'It Seemed My Duty'

In these days of precarious world conditions we are apt to consider the period immediately following the Revolution as one of ease and contentment. A glance at the problems of the presidency during George Washington's two terms and the terrific pressures on the chief executive give quite a different picture. The Genet affair is one of the most revealing.

Edmond Genet, an impulsive and daring young man, arrived at our shores in 1793 as minister plenipotentiary from the new French republic. He spent only nine months in that role in the United States, but his activities divided the Cabinet and caused endless conferences, threatened to rouse the people against the president, and pushed the United States into the danger of war on three fronts. To a large extent it was Washington's calm attitude, his refusal to act in haste yet the finality of his eventual decision which enabled the young United States to weather the dangers.

One of the first problems was whether the French republic should be recognized and whose duty it was to decide. Washington set an important precedent by receiving Genet and accepting his credentials.

The matter of neutrality also was important. Washington took the point of view that, although it was constitutionally up to Congress to declare war, it was the chief executive's responsibility to keep the peace until such a time. Despite the treaties of Alliance and Commerce which the United States had signed with the moribund French monarchy, Washington issued a Proclamation of Neutrality that it was "the duty and interest of the United States . . . that they should with sincerity and good faith adopt and pursue a conduct friendly and impartial toward the belligerent powers" of Great Britain, Austria, Prussia, Sardinia and the Netherlands on the one side and France on the other.

Citizen Genet considered this proclamation an insult to his country. Hailed by some American republicans who thought the French revolution of much the same character as the American one, he set out to undermine the official policy and to get the U. S. committed in the war on the side of France. As was his responsibility, he made suggestions to change the former treaties so that the American government would be responsible for "the greatest part of the sustenance and stores necessary for the armies, fleets and colonies of the French republic" and that a "national pact . . . on a liberal and fraternal basis" should be signed which would in effect permit the commissioning of French privateers in America.

Undaunted by America's refusal to accept such a treaty, Genet from the moment he landed set out to put such ideas into action. French men-of-war with British prizes sailed into the ports of Philadelphia and New York. Two privateers were outfitted at Charleston and sailed with at least 50 Americans in their crews. After the neutrality proclamation one British prize, the Little Sarah, was outfitted and sailed strictly against the orders of the United States government.

Since Washington was further perturbed by Indian attacks on the Georgia frontier, largely inspired by the Spanish in New Orleans, Genet managed to rouse disgruntled frontiersmen under the leadership of George Rogers Clark to march against the Spanish in Louisiana.

And still hampered by Washington's cold attitude, Genet tried to get the American people to turn against their president. He wrote to a compatriot:

The true republicans triumph but the old Washington, a man very different from the character emblazoned in history, cannot forgive me for my success . . . He puts thousands of obstacles in my way and makes it necessary for me to urge secretly a convocation of Congress. . .

Even Secy. of State Thomas Jefferson, with his "womanly" sympathy for the French republic, could not stomach this affront. Papers on Genet's activities were sent to France with a request for his recall which eventually came.

But with the new minister came orders for the arrest and deportation of Genet for his failure to lure the Americans into war against the British. The guillotine obviously was at the end of that journey. Washington shrugged. If Genet wanted asylum in the United States, it was all right with him. And so the man who worked so fervently for the political assassination of George Washington came to owe his very life to him. Genet moved to New York, married the heiress daughter of Gov. Clinton, became a United States citizen and dropped out of political sight.

No problems for the infant United States? It is a wonder that the republic survived. And much of the credit must be given to the first president who saw the difference between the French and American revolutions, who feared monarchy but realized that anarchy might represent the greater danger.

Red China Hits a Snag

Part of an earlier announced plan for Red China was a widespread system of birth control which would help keep in line the tremendous increase in population, infant mortality and general starvation which has been a plague to many Asiatic countries for centuries. The old idea of putting babies, particularly girl babies, out on a hillside on frigid nights was to give way to the modern idea of planned parenthood.

But all has not gone well with this plan of communism. The population has continued to increase at a rate of some 13 million people a year. Loud advocates of birth control, such as Dr. Ma Yen-chu, a noted Red economist, have been getting literary black eyes in official publications.

It seems there has been peasant resistance to this interference with family life. But the plan also has been judged inconsistent with Red boasts of their ability to cope with any situation. Admitting that the economic health of China depends on such a matter as a slower growth in the population is virtually conceding that natural factors may limit the potentials of communist achievement.

This fretting about public opinion crops up increasingly in Red theology. It may seem foolish that a regime which has committed cold-blooded murder millions of times and has been able to justify deportation and concentration camps should flounder over control of creation. One of the best things about communism, from the anti-communist viewpoint, is its inconsistency.

Drive on Obesity Brings Results

The battle against excess weight in this land of huge food surpluses has been an uphill fight. Diets, exercises and pills directed towards the loss of weight have been in the news and in conversations without respite for many years. However, the examples of success in slenderizing have seemingly been few.

It will come as a cheerful bit of news, therefore, that the executives of the nation have been making some headway in the elimination of obesity. Dr. William Shepherd of New York, who is in charge of health and welfare for a large insurance company, says overweight executives in the New York area are thinning out. He reports that recent physical examinations of 10,000 executives in the 35-65 age bracket showed that 25 per cent fewer were significantly overweight than in the same number examined in 1939.

The indications are that the talk about dieting has had some practical results. The results are much more important than the improvement of the individual's personal appearance. Dr. Shepherd says the chance of death from heart and blood vessel diseases is 170 per cent higher among persons who are 20 pounds or more overweight. He suggests that individuals try to keep within 10 or 15 pounds of their weight when they were 28 years of age. It is not easy, but apparently a large number of people are doing it.

Wants Pool, but Not on Golf Course Site

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Hooray! So the south side is really going to have a pool for the kids! But the place the city fathers think they'd like to put it? Laymon Wonsler is, I see, a committee of one; he deserves plenty of credit for at least trying. Here's another signer for his petition. Being a taxpayer for property on the south side as well as the northwest side, I think gives me the right to appeal to all golfers who use the municipal course. The city fathers want to save money on land. Yet $30,000 is nothing for a parking lot for cars downtown — not children! Then they're trying to save like the bird bath in Erb Park—cut down on size, and so somebody is killed the first day because it's not deep enough. Have any of the city fathers ever gotten into that pool?

Why not borrow the city of Neenah's pool plans? Save on architect's fees at least $10,000. The building also serves as a place to hold meetings like the Golden Agers, etc. Neenah thought of their people years ago. Oldsters as well as youngsters.

Buy a farm with room for parking — families and children. A fence around a pool still doesn't stop little boys from climbing over. Never has.

February

Today the snow is driving hard
Hurried by an unseen hand
Down from the silent sleeping hills
It pours out over the land

It sweeps across the open fields
Seeking to bury its prey
It swirls through gullies bleak and cold
On this February day

Roving clouds sail across the sky
Like dream ships sailing through space
Over the frozen empty miles
Their silhouette shadows race

High on the peaks the sunlight gleams
Where winds of the ages blow
Where time is lost in endless flight
The place of eternal snow

Then suddenly the wind is still
Winter frosts are taking wing
Deep in the forest something stirs
It's the restless urge of spring

Soon a lark will sing to the dawn
Swallows will nest in the eaves
Maples will open tender buds
High above the dead brown leaves

Rivers will cast their silver spray
On an eager verdant shore
Friendly rain will fall in the pines
The hills will be young once more

Through the waste lands life is marching
Its banner of hope unfurled
It marches to tunes of gladness
It rouses a sleeping world

Lyndon Johnson Shows Perfect Political Timing

BY JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

Washington — (AP) — Some men duck the spotlight. Some love it so much they crawl towards it on their hands and knees.

But Sen. Lyndon Johnson creates it. The tall, 49-year-old Texan did something else recently, too. He showed again he has what every good politician and athlete must have: A sharp sense of timing.

He bounced back from a heart attack in 1955 like a man with his battery recharged. As leader of the senate Democrats he has given the senate — particularly in the past few months — a look of speed and action.

In those months he did three major things, all of them of the kind that compelled national attention and all of them useful if he looks for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

This is what he has done since the first Sputnik went up in October:

1. As chairman of the senate's special subcommittee on preparedness, he led the investigation into the Eisenhower administration's defense program, with the accent on missiles.

But he did it so smoothly the Republicans haven't accused him of playing politics.

2. As soon as that subcommittee had ripped through its inquiry, he proposed the senate should create a special committee to study the entire range of problems facing this country in outer space.

The senate, Democrats and Republicans alike, bought this idea overwhelmingly, making Johnson the probable chairman of the new committee. It will make news for months.

3. Recently he proposed — and his fellow Democrats went to work on it right away — a 10-point program for fighting the economic recession now spreading across the country.

His timing was excellent on all three of those activities, but particularly on the last.

He outlined his 10-point anti-recession program just after President Eisenhower issued a statement intended to reassure the nation the recession will go away.

Eisenhower in his statement, pointed to steps already taken by his administration to curb the downturn,

Most People Believe Israel Nation Here to Stay

BY ELMO C. WILSON

Director, World Poll

As it approaches its tenth birthday, Israel is confronted by a series of power moves bringing renewed threats to its continued existence.

Surrounded since its inception by hostile Arab neighbors pledged to destroy her, the Jewish state now must cope with the merging of these Arab states into more powerful units.

Her Enemies Unite

The first step in this process has been the union of the two recipients of massive Russian military aid, Syria and Egypt. A second stage may come if current negotiations lead to a federation of Iraq and Jordan.

What support does Israel command in international opinion? How do world's peoples feel about the creation of Israel as a state?

In an effort to assess attitudes toward Israel today, World-Poll asked cross-sections in ten countries these two questions:

"The state of Israel was created in 1947. If the decision were to be made now, would you favor or oppose creating the State of Israel?"

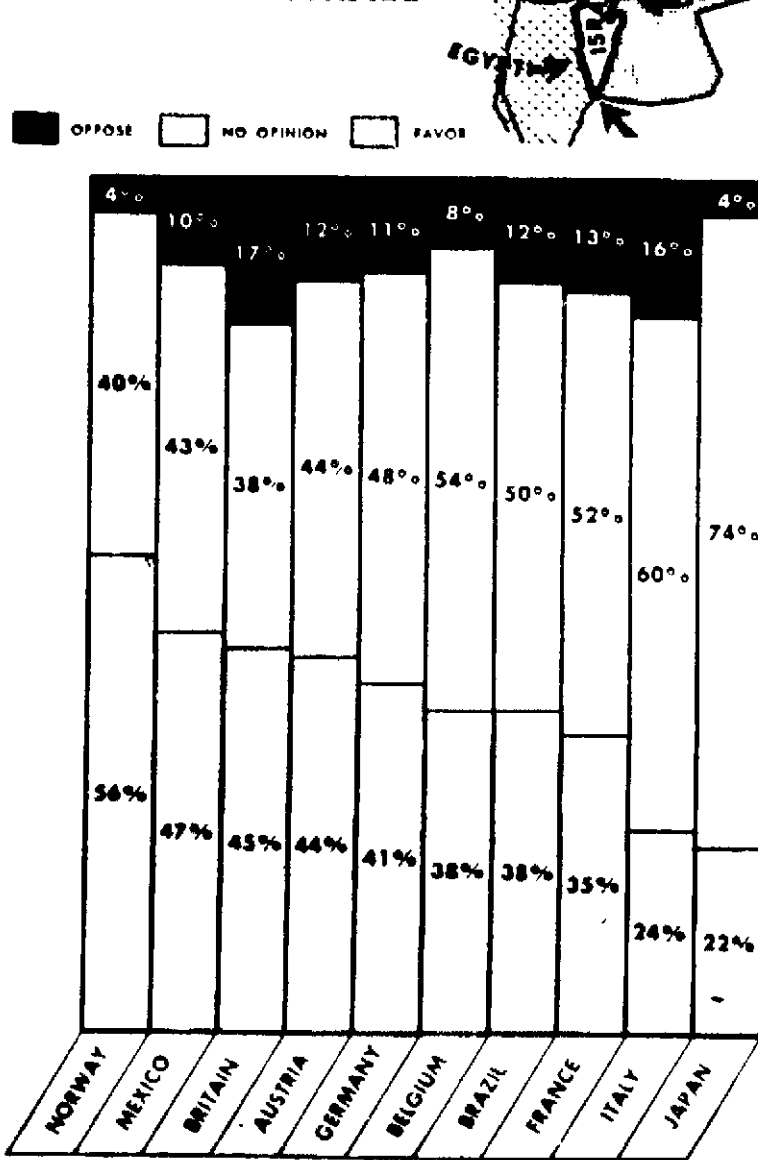

"In 1947 did you favor or oppose creating the State of Israel?"

Israel Here to Stay

Large proportions, amounting to majorities in four countries, had no opinion on the first question. On the other hand, there was considerable evidence that those persons with opinions had decided that the State of Israel is here to stay. In no country did the number opposed to the creation of Israel exceed one out of five.

"The State of Israel was created in 1947. If the decision were to be made now,

Belgium	38	8	54
Brazil	35	15	50
France	32	16	52
Italy	24	16	60
Japan	22	4	74

What does the large "No Opinion" mean? The evidence suggests that it is a true "No Opinion" expressed by two groups:

(a) Those who really do not care about the issue; it seems too remote to them; and

(b) Those who see pros and cons and in attempting to weigh advantages and disadvantages are unable to reach a decision — they are the undecided.

Most Support Israel

Many of the persons interviewed in each country no longer remembered how they felt about the creation of Israel back in 1947. And many others reported they took no sides at the time. Among those who reported how they felt about Israel in 1947, sentiment appeared however, to be consistent with what it is today. Opposition to Israel was very limited. Support was far greater than opposition.

"In 1947, did you favor or oppose creating the State of Israel?"

The better educated in the population show a greater readiness to take sides on this issue, and in nearly all the countries studied, support is greatest among the better educated. In all countries

Looking Backward

'Uncle Tom's Cabin' in Appleton

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Feb. 22, 1879.

Last evening the Forbes Dramatic Company opened, at Bertsch Hall in the play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Going to press so early makes us unable to say anything about the playing, but the Green Bay Globe says that the company is very meritorious — no sticks in the company. The little midget who impersonates Eva in the Cabin play is a prodigy in genius. The scenes and situations are well appointed and acted from beginning to end.

As we have had nothing in the way of theatricals for some time past, we shall expect to see good houses.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Feb. 18, 1933.

Charles J. Steidl, Stephenville, president, and R. J. Meyer, Appleton, vice chairman, were to be speakers at a meeting called by the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association.

Mrs. E. J. Petersen was general chairman for the World Day of Prayer which was to be observed by nine Protestant churches in Appleton on March 3 at Emmanuel Evangelical church. Mrs. George Breitrick was program chairman.

While tons of milk were being dumped on the highways near New London, the supply reaching distributors in Appleton was about 40 to 50 per cent off the normal. Between seven hundred and a thousand pickets effectively blocked all deliveries to factories in New London. Five truck loads were dumped by pickets about two miles north of New London, on Highway 26, and more loads were spilled on other roads.

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Feb. 21, 1948

Caroline Nussbicker, Jack King, Janet Steinberg and Bill Hines won prizes for dancing at the party held for the Junior High Pilgrim fellowship of First Congregational church. Don Stueck was general chairman, and on the committee were Janet Airis, Sue Wadsworth, Mary Jane Shackleton, John Perschbacher, Pat Coleman, Virginia Jesse, Dolores Schultz, Charles Roland and Judy Van Ryzin.

Mrs. Florence Carlin, Hudson, was the new head of the Outagamie county child welfare department. She succeeded Mrs. Carl Rechner.

Neal Precourt, Appleton, was secured as instructor for the Neenah High school Conservation club archery group.

promised he would take any others he thought necessary.

Thus it is a matter of opinion whether Eisenhower is doing enough or whether Johnson's proposals are really needed.

Johnson's proposal, coming so soon after Eisenhower's reassuring statement, was in effect a way of saying that the Democrats don't think Eisenhower is showing the leadership he should and so therefore they'll do the leading.

And in this Johnson will be the leader of the leaders. He can't do himself any harm.

tries except Italy and Japan, supporters of Israel are in the majority among university educated.

Has there been much shift of opinion about Israel since 1947? Nine out of ten of those who favored the creation of Israel in 1947 are numbered among its supporters today. By contrast, in three countries surveyed, namely Britain, West Germany, and Mexico, only six to seven out of ten of those against Israel in 1947 persist in their opposition today. British opinion is shown as an example below:

Would support creation today	90%	27%
Would oppose creation today	8	44
No opinion today	2	7

Total 100% 100%
By and large, opinion about Israel has not changed much in the last ten years. Where change has occurred, Israel's supporters have remained more steadfast than its opponents.

Lone Stations Can Forecast Severe Gales

Process Developed Through Research In Antarctica

BY RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter

Hallett Station, Antarctica—One of the products of research in Antarctica is a procedure enabling isolated weather stations to forecast gales without the help of other stations.

So far it has been tried only at Hallett station, where it was 80 per cent accurate in forecasting 14 storms last winter. But there is no reason why it should not work elsewhere, says Dr. James A. Shear, who developed the idea.

Weather stations in Antarctica are far apart and communication among them often is difficult, sometimes impossible. The need for gale warnings is great, particularly in the Cape Adare region where Hallett is situated. In one of last year's storms the wind got up to 114 miles an hour.

Storm Forecasts

Storm forecasts usually are compiled from data reported by several stations. There are lots of stations in the United States and other densely populated parts of the world, but there still are great areas of the globe without them. The new method should help remote points.

Dr. Shear, who is from the University of Kentucky, worked out the procedure while serving as Hallett's scientific leader. He completed his assignment last month.

The key to the method is the use of charts and calculations to keep track of changes in wind directions about 16,000 feet above sea level. During the storm season the winds of Antarctica flow generally around the continent from west to east at this altitude. But localized pressure waves or little circular pressure areas sometimes interfere with the smooth west-to-east flow. Weather balloons detect these forces and the changes they produce in wind direction are charted.

Changes produced by the irregularities are the main factor in the production of gales. Dr. Shear used data on cloudiness and temperatures aloft as well as conditions at the surface to complete the forecasting procedure. He said this method on several occasions correctly forecast a no-storm condition when conventional data looked "ominous."

Records of the rise and fall of troughs and waves in the air in the region of 16,000 feet up were kept. They disclosed that these irregularities, which play a part in causing the wind shifts preliminary to a storm, had a period of about 11 days. The new method made it possible to detect gales 12 to 24 hours in advance, Dr. Shear said. More frequent air soundings could extend this margin by six hours or so, he added.

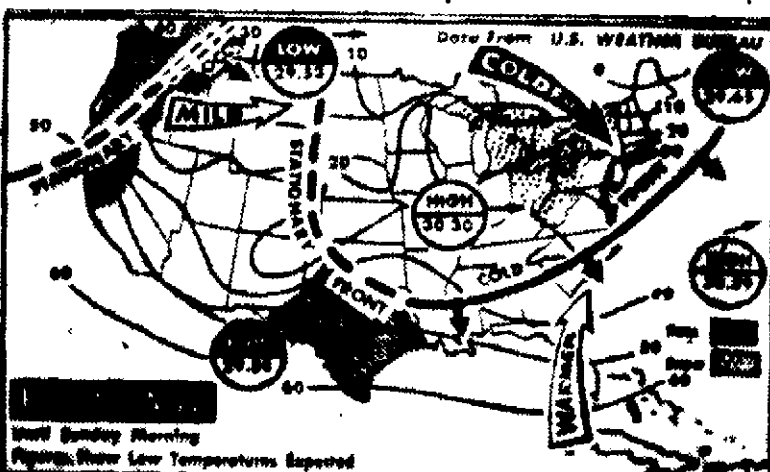

One of the tipoffs to a coming storm in the Antarctic, he said, is an upper air wind shifting in a clockwise direction. Another is rising temperature at that level and a third is increasing cloudiness there. Surface indications for a gale were found to be an east or northeast wind, light snow fall and decreasing air pressure.

20 Inspectors Named By Traffic Patrol

Madison—The state traffic patrol has appointed 20 new motor vehicle inspectors to start work March 1 in six patrol districts.

The appointees and 35 other vehicle inspectors already on the job at truck weight stations are part of the 70-man inspector force authorized by the 1957 Legislature. The inspectors perform technical investigations formerly done by traffic patrolmen.

Among the new inspectors are Richard L. Berger, Shawano, and James W. Morrissey, Oshkosh.

Snow or Snow Flurries are likely tonight over the lower Great Lakes and the extreme upper Great Lakes region and the central and northern Appalachians, with rain for Texas and showers for northern California and the Pacific northwest. Lower temperatures are expected in the northeast with milder readings indicated for the south Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Annual Activity

Waupaca Association of Commerce To Entertain Farmers on Tuesday

Waupaca—County farmers will be the guests of the Association of Commerce Tuesday at the association sponsored Farmer's day activities at the Waupaca armory.

The program is scheduled to begin at 10:15 when a land leveling talk will be given by Herb Tauchen, county farm planning director for the soil conservation service office here.

A weed control lecture will be given by Gene Hove, county 4-H agent. Another guest speaker that morning will be Paul Torma, ADA representative, who will tell the value of dairy advertising.

After lunch Sid Stamforth,

University of Wisconsin agriculture economist, will speak on farm changes for better living. Another economist, Glenn Pulver from the University of Wisconsin, will speak on making recommended changes.

Master of ceremonies will be Michael Drozd.

Ken Wenzel is chairman of the retail committee planning the activities and is assisted by Clarence Cahall, Doug Loomis, Mary Montgomery, Blanche Pinkerton, James McPherson, Fred Mannel, Cliff Quimby and L. C. Krueger. The high school band will supply noon-hour entertainment.

Staff members of the Visiting Nurse association made 340 home calls last month, an increase of 39 over December but a decrease of 95 from January, 1957. The figures were released by Miss Inez Davis, nurse director, in her monthly report to the board of directors.

She said 64 patients were under VNA care at the beginning of the month. Thirty-seven new patients were placed on the rolls and 44 were dismissed, for a total of 57 under care at the end of January.

A breakdown of the pay status indicates full payment was received for 142 calls and partial payment for 120. Forty-five were non-chargeable, 32 were under pension arrangements and 1 was under contract.

It also was reported the Wisconsin State Board of Health mobile bus will be in Appleton Oct. 1 to 31 to take X-rays to screen for possible cases of tuberculosis, heart conditions and lung cancer.

Catholic Church Plans Special Lenten Services

A series of Tuesday and Friday lenten services has been scheduled by Sacred Heart Catholic church.

The Rev. Joli Couer, O. Praem, professor of scripture at St. Norbert college, will deliver a sermon at 7:30 each Tuesday evening and stations of the cross and benediction will be offered at 7:30 each Friday evening.

An inquiry class, beginning Monday and continuing through lent, will be held at 7:30 each Monday and Thursday evening in the school. The Rev. Leander Nickel, assistant pastor, will conduct the class.

Sputnik Models Will be Displayed at Jap Fair

Tokyo—The Soviet embassy announced Thursday that models of Sputniks I and II will be displayed at the Japan international trade fair in Osaka April 12-17.

An embassy spokesman said the model of the first 185-pound earth satellite would be "life size" while that of the half-ton dog carrier shot up Nov. 3 would be in "volumetric section," presumably some sort of reduced-scale cutaway model.

A model of Sputnik I was displayed in Moscow last November, a month after it was shot into space. There has been no indication of any such exhibit of Sputnik II, although Pravda, the Soviet communist party organ, published closeup photographs and diagrams of it.

Mental Attitude Helps in Conquering Skin Problems

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.
There is nothing I can add to the following letter. I've only left out a little of it because of space.

"Dear Dr. Molner: In your advice to 'women with hair on face,' you left out the most important thing. 'Do what you can to remove it or bleach it, and then forget it. Beauty really is more than skin deep.'"

"A woman wrote to you that 'this problem is ruining my existence.' She is wrong. Her attitude toward the problem is ruining her existence."

"I not only have hair on my face (and have had for years, since my teens) but in addition I had lupus which badly scarred my face. And tubercular glands, when I was a child, scarred my neck and breastbone. I couldn't get a job after I graduated from college, my face was so crusted with the lupus scabs. My marks were high enough."

"The time came when I realized I must do something not to the hairs or scars or scabs, but to me. I was going out only after dark, and even then wished the street would open up and let me through when I met anyone. That woke me to my real problem."

"My 3-year-old nephew was a handsome child. The next day, and every day after that, I walked uptown with him in bright sunlight, and when anyone looked my way I told myself, 'They aren't looking at you, but at the beautiful child with you.' Slowly I could stand to have people see my scabbed and scarred face."

"I had studied for religious education. I had sent out 80 applications for a job and was turned down by all. Then a temporary pastor persuaded my church to hire me to do the children's and women's work there until a regular pastor was obtained."

"I took the job knowing parents were afraid of me for their children (I had checked with the doctor to find there was no need for fear) but I kept a safe distance from them. It took effort, for I love children very much."

Mired to Preach

"When winter came and ministers could not get through from the city, I was hired to preach as well as teach. I simply didn't have time to think of how I looked. Toward spring I was introduced to a young couple who were there to see if their church would want to have me. It was five hours later when I remembered my face was not like others. I laughed—because then I knew I had won the real battle."

"Five years later I was interviewed for a place in a very large city, and had to be seen by one of the top men—because of my face. After the interview he said, 'Get her if you can. No one, after the first time, will ever remember that her face is different, because she doesn't know it.'"

"The scars are long gone. The scars are there but no one gives a hoot. A couple I knew well for months never noticed that I had to shave, and once when I mentioned it, they were incredulous. They hadn't seen the hair because they saw me. Personality is far more important than scars or excess hair or any skin blemish.—M. O."

Total Circulation
Set at 57,805,445

New York—The total circulation of the nation's 1,786 morning and evening daily newspapers is reported as 57,805,445 on last Sept. 30—a gain of 1.23 per cent over the figure for Sept. 30, 1956.

The figure was given Thursday by the trade paper Editor & Publisher. The statistics are in E&P's International Year Book, which will be ready for distribution in mid-March. The circulation gain was made despite the fact that there were six fewer dailies in 1957 than in 1956, and the fact that many newspapers raised their prices, E&P said. The E&P reported morning newspaper circulation increased .07 per cent or 24,833 copies. The 309 morning newspapers had a 1957 circulation of 23,170,552 and the 1,453 evening newspapers had 34,634,893. Papers in cities of less than 50,000 population made the best gains.

WASHINGTON LOST HIS BATTLE with a COMMON COLD
"Never underestimate the strength of the enemy" is a basic precept of military strategy. Yet Washington, brilliant as General as he was, violated that precept in the defense of his health. Ignoring the warning symptoms of a cold he had caught, Washington rode recklessly into the bitterness of a blizzard. Complications set in and three days later the Father of His Country was dead. Today, many deaths can be attributed to similar errors in judgment. Never underestimate an illness—see your doctor as soon as possible.

Youth Cools Toward High School Sweetheart While at College

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm deeply in love with a young man. We went steady all through high school and there wasn't a day in three years that we didn't see each other or talk on the phone.

When he left for college I missed him terribly. We wrote to each other almost every day. Then I noticed Ann Landers' letters began to cool off. When he came home for vacation I knew his feelings for me had changed. I heard he'd been dating some darling girls at college and I was hurt that he hadn't mentioned it.

When I asked him, he admitted it was true and suggested I date others because he wanted to be free to do the same.

I'm so heart-broken I don't care to go on living. I once heard it said that there's a perfect mate for every woman in the world. I'm sure he was mine. Now that he's gone what shall I do?—RITA

That "perfect mate" routine is a lot of eye-wash. Nothing in this life is perfect, and surely no human being. So forget this sick idea and go on from there.

The boy probably outgrew you—it's as simple as that.

When he went to college and met other girls he decided it was a mistake to tie himself up forever to his first and only sweetheart.

His advice to you was excellent. I can't improve on it. Go with others and develop your intellect, your personality and your interests. I can't imagine anything more boring than the steady company of the same fellow starting at age 15.

Perhaps you two will wind up together, but for heaven's sake you owe it to yourselves to look around and base your decision on something that makes sense.

DEAR ANN: In answer to B.H.'s letter who said being in the United States Army was like being in a prison camp, I say the guy is squirrely. Furthermore he has all the making of a dead man if he ever gets into a combat patrol. I've seen the results of the guys who resent authority and won't pay any attention to their squad leaders. They wind up in rows, commonly known as graves.

The service has a real problem teaching some of those pink-cheeked, pig-headed guys how to be fighting men. When they have the attitude that no jerk, former gasoline station-attendant is going to tell them what to do, because this is a "free-country" — that's where the trouble begins.

I hope I never wind up in the same unit with B.H. If I do, and he makes his presence known I'll flatten him for sure.—J.L.G.

DEAR ANN: Will you please tell me who is right—my husband or me. Our son is 43 and has made a mess of his life. He was in real estate but liquor ruined his business and his marriage. His wife left him three months ago and took their four children to live with her folks.

About a year ago this son borrowed $350 from us. He never did pay it back. My husband says he doesn't want to see the boy again because he's a dead-beat.

Now our son has realized what a mess he's made of things. He has joined A.A. and is trying hard to get back on his feet. I want to help him and make him feel welcome in the house. I hate to think that $350 would make this much difference. My husband says it's the "principle". Who is right?—MRS. F.P.

"You're right, Mother, and I hope you can break Pa down and make him see it your way."

Of course your son should have repaid the debt. But perhaps now that he's trying to pull himself together, he will be able to return the money and get his life straightened around.

Give him all the encouragement and support you can. The Battle Of The Bottle is one of the toughest fights of all. Tell Dad now is the time to open his heart, not close the door.

Cantebury Club Schedules Two Sunday Meetings

The Canterbury club of All Saints Episcopal church will begin its program at 8:30 Sunday evening with a prayer service in the church. After the service, the club will adjourn to the Lawrence Memorial union to hear a paper, "Christianity and Natural Science," read by William Blask.

The Appleton club will entertain the Ripon college Canterbury group March 9, when the Rev. Arthur A. Vogel, professor of apologetics and dogmatics at Nashotah house, will be speaker. The program for that evening will begin at 5:30 with a church service. Supper will be served in the parish hall at 6 o'clock and the program is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

Family Members to Gather for Dinner

Roger Harrmann will present an archery demonstration and the Rev. I. B. Kindem will discuss a selection from the Bible at a father-son-daughter banquet at 6:30 Monday night at the Trinity English Lutheran church parish hall.

FHA to Model Clothing At Farm Institute

Shiocton — The Shiocton High school chapter of the Future Homemakers of America will model clothing at the farm institute scheduled for March 10 in the school gymnasium.

Check Construction When Buying Men's Shirts

Do you know a good shirt when you see one? Can you spot the all-important details of workmanship and construction that are a sure clue to quality in a man's shirt?

If you're a little hazy on the difference between a really good shirt and a second-rate shirt, here are some tips from a fashion consultant for a shirt manufacturer.

For your first clue to quality, look at the label in the shirt. If the size is right, and if the label is that of a well-known manufacturer, you're off to a good start. The label will tell you, too, about the fabric. Look for the sanforized label, since that means that the fabric won't shrink more than 1 per cent, no matter how often it is washed.

Fabric Important
Fabric is important. A smooth, lustrous finish means that the threads are mercerized, and the fabric will wear well and launder perfectly. Smooth broadcloth and the more casual oxford are favorites for business wear.

Look at the seams. The stitching should be close and smooth. All inside edges must be perfectly finished, and double-stitched seams at strain points should add extra strength.

Now Is Time for Teens To Land That Summer Job

Now is the time for all energetic moderns to sew up a summer job. Don't be wishy-washy about it. Get busy and look just as diligently for a job now as you would when school is out, as if you were desperate for work. It's the early birds that sew up the cushy assignments, the late lookers who join the crocodile club when all the jobs are gone.

Here's a list of noggin' producers. Maybe you'll get an idea for a job in your area.
Junior Counselors. . . . Day camps sometimes prefer a semester of college and 6 months group work with children.

There are openings for beginners, however. Summer resident camps like additional skills such as arts, crafts, music, dramatics, dance.

Mother's Helper. . . . You'll live as a member of the family (usually at good vacation spot) as nurse and companion to the little youngsters, helping with the work — child care, cooking, cleaning, maybe even laundry. There is usually time for fun though — swimming, hiking.

Farm Jobs. . . . City kids love farm jobs and an advertisement in a farm journal can get you away from it all. Ask the family for references, and check them before you take the job. Church references are the best in cases of that sort. It may even be a good idea to ask your own pastor to contact the church reference.

Sales Jobs. . . . Put your oar in now for these jobs. Try specialty shops, five-and-ten cent stores, drug stores. Ice-cream stands, gift shops are other good bets.

Hospital Jobs. . . . Many hospitals like to feel they can depend on relief help when vacation periods start for their staff. Get your application in now, telling how long and how often you can be on the job.

Waitress. . . . Try the neighborhood restaurants, refreshment stands nearby and resorts or national parks for these jobs.
Office Jobs. . . . If you can run a switchboard or can type, take shorthand or keep books you may find summer jobs if you line them up now. There are other jobs: Sorting, delivering mail, answering the telephone, filing and clerical jobs that do not require experience.

Park and Beach Attendants. . . . Many beaches and clubs keep a list of young girls who can help mother at the beach watching small fry. There are jobs too for boys as lifeguards, cabana hands and at refreshment stands in park or beach.

Toehold on Space Age 'Wild Blue Yonder' Vista Seen As Women Take Path to Stars

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Girls who want to get a toehold on the space age can start by aiming for one of the many new jobs for women around the airlines, which already are dreaming about excursion trips to the moon and possibly vacation tours to Mars.

Mrs. Charlotte Franklin, for instance, a good-looking brunette, has a new kind of job as flight inspectress aboard the big VARIG airliners that fly between New York and Rio de Janeiro. Mrs. Franklin acts as a sort of hostess, supervising the service of the food and wines aboard the planes, making the passengers comfortable, soothing any who feel nervous, performing all the duties of an accomplished hostess entertaining guests in her own home.

Poise, Looks Important
"I suggested this job," says Charlotte, "and I train other hostesses in the same work. We now have five in service on the various flights. Most of the girls speak several languages. A knowledge of English, Spanish and French is essential on the international flights."

Mrs. Franklin and her associates do not wear uniforms. They are chosen for social poise, attractiveness, knowledge of correct service and linguistic ability. And when space flights start, it's a safe bet they will be well-versed in etiquette for moon tourists.

Then there's the increasingly frequent job of fashion coordinator for airlines. Travel agents found that the first question a woman asks, when planning a trip, was "What shall I wear?" So a new department, by and for women, was born.

Jane Kilbourne, a statuesque blonde who knows her way around most of the world's cities, does the job for Pan American, cloud-hopping around the world, giving fashion shows of travel wardrobes and advising women on how and what to pack for a trip to almost anywhere.

Travel Expert's Job
TWA has four "Mary Gordons" — in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco — whose job it is to advise women on all travel problems, including what to pack and what to wear. The department was started in 1961 as a special service for women, and has grown ever since. In New York Janet Gerlough heads the staff, and gives out advice on everything from cosmetics to the chemise.

Scandinavian airlines has its "Sally Ann Simpson," who is in real life Mrs. Jean Gammon, author of a number of travel books who is planning still more on the subject of shopping your way around the world.

Longest-standing airline job for the travel-minded girl is that of stewardess — and even that has been made more attractive in recent months. How many of the airlines — including TWA, VARIG, BOAC and Scandinavian — have lifted their former ban against married stewardesses. TWA does not hire stewardesses who are already married, but now allows them to keep their jobs if they marry later. The foreign lines don't care whether a stewardess is married.

So any girl who wants to see the world has plenty of opportunities. Because the airlines, like other transportation mediums, have found that the world's most enthusiastic travelers are women.

Rebekah's Observe Past During Last Meeting
Waukegan — The birthdays of Lincoln and Washington were observed Thursday evening during the Rebekah Lodge 127 meeting by readings presented by Mrs. Clarence Johnson, no-nonsense grand.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Levi Wait, Mrs. Harold Win- ters and Mrs. Kenneth Nelson. The next meeting will be March 1.

Casserole Dishes Served At Homemaker Meeting

Clintonville — Members of the Hobby Homemakers club met at the home of Mrs. Carl Smith when project leaders Mrs. George Johnson and Mrs. Eldred Hill prepared and served casserole dishes.

Leaders will be Mrs. Leo Born and Mrs. Smith at the March meeting at the home of Mrs. Matt Dahm.

Our Children Choose College Before High School Graduation

BY ANGELO PATRI

The school year will end before one realizes how the time is flying. How about the student who plans to go to college? Has he and his parents decided which one he is to attend? It is high time that they had done something about it.

Getting into college is not as easy as it once was. To start with the candidate must stand high in his class and have a clean conduct record. The high marks are an assurance of good ability in academic work. Sometimes this shuts out a good student but that's a settled fact and must be accepted.

A good student, however, one his teachers recommend, has a chance to enter one of the less famous, less crowded colleges and this should not be overlooked. Size does not assure excellence in a college any more than it does anywhere else and college candidates would do well to make inquiries about these less well-known but fine institutions. They are more likely to be able to offer more personal instruction to their students than the larger ones.

Scholarships
There is the matter of scholarships to be taken into consideration. There are many of these and many different requirements of the candidates for them so that almost any recommended student can apply for one.

The student does not graduate until next year? It would be very wise to start right now to explore the possibilities of college for him. The guidance teacher will know about the scholarships, know something too of the student's fitness and so is qualified to advise about the kind of college and what courses are best suited to his interests. This interview should not be delayed. Neither should the student's preparation for the scholarship. The right time is now.

While college experience is generally accepted as highly profitable to young people, we must remember that all of them are not going to college. Some are not interested; some are not college fitted. They are however potentially successful people and their future work should be thought about now before graduation.

Business schools, trade schools, apprenticeships, night schools, many doors are open to them. Never are they to be allowed to feel themselves as lesser citizens. They are essential to the country. Small use we should have for the college men and women if it were not for these others who carry on the important workaday world's business.

St. Plus X Chapel was the setting of nuptials uniting Miss Esther Paul, Eau Claire, and Gerald Vander Heiden, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Vander Heiden, 929 W. Bell avenue, in rites Saturday, Feb. 15. The young people are residing in Chicago, Ill. (Rueckl Photo)

Permanent Washable Air Filters
Now at McKinley Engineering

"Stop wasting money on 'throw-away' air filters for your heating or air conditioning system," advises McKinley Engineering, division of McKinley Sales, Inc., 741 W. College avenue. Now you can throw out those old-fashioned air filters, breathe clean air, and save money at the same time with "Dust-Magnet," the washable air filter you never have to replace.

Dust-Magnet air filters are easy to clean, says the firm: you just rinse them under the faucet. Nine weeks' use in a typical restaurant installation piled up greasy dirt (below).

These new Dust-Magnet filters actually pull irritating dust, dirt and pollen out of the air that flows through your furnace or air conditioner. McKinley Engineering points out: Revolutionary as a filtering medium, the Stoddard Dust-Magnet air filter consists of layers of woven plastic fabric (patent pending) held under spring tension in a rustproof steel frame.

GREAT INTEREST was demonstrated by Fox Cities car fans this week in the new 4-passenger Thunderbird for 1958 as displayed at Sherry Motors, Inc., 325 W. Washington street. Billed as "a brilliant new version of a great American classic," the new Thunderbird is a mere 52.5 inches high, sports a 300 horsepower engine and single unit body construction. Its front and rear headroom is within a fraction of an inch of America's other prestige automobiles, Sherrys report.

24 Inches Longer, 4 Inches Wider
New 'T-Bird' Four-Passenger Model
Evokes Widespread Interest Here

Showings of the new 4-passenger Thunderbird for 1958 evoked widespread public interest in the Appleton area, according to Sherry Motors, Inc. The trim new personal cars, which also are being featured at a public showing at a north-east - side super market this weekend, combine the dash of a stylist's dream car with the interior spaciousness of a luxury car, says the firm.

Another first for Ford, the new car retains Thunderbird classic lines. Unitized frame construction made possible maximum interior passenger room and comfort without pretentious exterior bulkiness. Although the new car has twice the passenger-carrying capacity, it is only 24 inches longer and four inches wider. The Thunderbird is four inches lower than the average for all U.S. luxury cars, but has more room per passenger than any luxury car. Its front and rear head room is within a fraction of an inch of America's other prestige automobiles.

Wide Door Opening
The new car has one of the widest door openings (48.74 inches) of any U.S. automobile and has new type front seat and back rests are molded to backs that fold flat out of the way for ease of entry to the rear seat. It is powered with a new 300-horsepower engine of the most modern design, including a 4-distributor, power windows, a carburetor, fully mado-ditioner, combustion chambers front and rear passengers.

The units are listed by Underwriters Laboratories. Static electricity attracts the dust particles to Dust-Magnet's layers of woven plastic just as a magnet draws iron filings. Dust-Magnet filters never need replacing so one investment will save you many dollars over the life of your warm air furnace or air conditioner. Readers can have further details of how they can save with these new filters by calling or visiting McKinley Engineering at RE 4-7166.

Bergstrom Paper Sales, Earnings Hit Record High

Profits Near $900,000 for 1957, President States in Year's Review

Neenah — Sales of Bergstrom Paper company achieved a record level of over $11 million during 1957 and profits likewise went to a record figure of approximately $900,000. N. H. Bergstrom, president indicated today in his annual report.

"Shortly before the end of the year, this company along with the rest of the industry encountered a lull in business," he stated. "This was reflected in the first part of 1958 in some curtailment of production."

"It is our belief that this may continue for a relatively short period, and it will have its effect upon the company. However, all of our planning has taken this possibility into account. The cost reduction we have achieved plus the broadening of our sales base, will considerably lighten the impact of this general business condition upon your company," he said.

He called attention to the proposed addition to its highway plant to house the safety paper operations now located at Waupaca. A commitment of $750,000 has been provided by management to accomplish this purpose and other contemplated developments.

New Paper Lines

A line of papers for office printing equipment, such as various types of duplicating and offset machines, was developed during the year and introduced to the markets in September. Some of these included major changes and additions on the paper machines. During 1957 the number of Bergstrom sales representatives almost doubled. An increased advertising program also was begun.

The sales of 11,066,000 for an all-time high is up 16.7 per cent over 1956 and the net earnings of $887,000, by far the largest.

in the company's history, was up 48.5 per cent.

However, the annual report stressed, rebuilding of the paper machines in the two previous years lowered the earnings of those years since operations were interrupted about one month each year. Through improved efficiency of the plant, the company was able to absorb much of the higher cost of doing business.

Earnings Per Share

Earnings per share of common stock were up from $1.73 to $2.47. Cash dividend payments aggregated $297,000 in 1957 including $12,000 on preferred stock. Cash dividends of 80 cents per share were paid on both class A and class B stock.

Effective last June about 350 hourly paid workers received a wage increase amounting to 5 per cent. Employment at the Neenah operations increased by 46 people during the year and at the year's end amounted to 214 in the paper mill, 98 in the finishing plant and 77 in the office. There are 38 employees at the Waupaca division. The total payroll, including fringe benefits, for 1957 came to $2,913,960 which is about $502,800 more than the previous year and $932,023 more than in 1955.

County Records 5th Auto Death of Year

Sheboygan Man Killed When Sports Car Leaves Road, Hits Tree South of Neenah

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — The death of a young Sheboygan man on County Trunk A at 2:45 this morning raised Winnebago county's 1958 accident fatality toll to five persons.

Killed was Walter Charles Rawson, 22, Sheboygan. He was pinned underneath the car and received a skull fracture, broken right arm, broken hip and broken left shoulder.

Rawson was headed south from Neenah to Oshkosh in a 1955 model high-powered sports car when the car went off the road on a curve. It traveled 80 feet up the ditch before hitting a driveway culvert.

The car then flew 106 feet through the air before striking ground. It continued another 51 more feet and struck a tree.

The accident happened about six miles south of Neenah and 13 miles north of the state hospital.

The car is believed to be one that Neenah police followed on S Commercial street while patrolling the city. Police said a car of that description was going south on S Commercial street and they followed it at a speed of 22 miles an hour for several blocks.

The car was demolished. Rawson was employed by Western Electric company and had been working in Oshkosh since December installing dial phones. He had been rooming in Oshkosh. A navy veteran, he is survived by his parents and three sisters.

Only Two in 1957

Winnebago county recorded its first traffic death on Jan. 1 when a young Oshkosh man missed a curve and hit a tree at Highway 175 near the Fond du Lac county line. The second death was on Jan. 24 when an Oshkosh man ran into the rear end of a gasoline truck and died 30 minutes later of a crushed chest.

Two young people from Oshkosh and Poynette bound for a Methodist youth rally at Stevens Point, were killed Feb. 8 when their car ran into the side of a Chicago and North Western passenger streamliner shortly before 8 o'clock in the morning. This accident happened on County Trunk GG in the town of Vinland.

At this time last year the county had only two traffic deaths. These were two elderly men from West Bloomfield and Fremont whose stalled car was hit by a Soo Line freight train west of Neenah. The fifth traffic death last year was recorded late in May.

Iowa Man Clocked at 110 Mile-an-Hour Speed Near Bergstrom Mill

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Charges of speeding up to 110 miles an hour on Highway 41 past the Bergstrom Paper company mill in the town of Neenah and passing at an intersection will be placed against Wayne H. Davis, 32, Marshalltown, Iowa, when he is arraigned Monday before Municipal Judge S. J. Luchinger.

He was arrested at 8:24 P.M. by Ervin K. Hardtke of the Winnebago county police who said he clocked Davis at speeds of 100 to 110 miles an hour before he was able to stop him at the intersection of Highway 41 and County Trunk G.

$150,000 Spent For Highway 41 Right-of-Way

Awards of Damage, Purchases Recorded For Road Relocation

Oshkosh — Awards of damages totaling $79,901 to owners of property needed for the Highway 41 relocation and widening in Winnebago county plus Highway 41 right-of-way purchases totaling $90,562 have been recorded at the office of Register of Deeds Bernice L. Fuller. These are in addition to other numerous sites purchased earlier.

Leon Morrissey, county highway commissioner, explained today that many of the awards of damages are "friendly awards," where the owner is not ready to set a price for his land and is not contesting the county highway committee's valuation for the land sought for the highway right-of-way.

Through an award of damages the property owner has two years to decide on accepting the county's offer or to go to court for a different award. Several of the owners indicated, Morrissey said, they could get a better idea of the value of the land needed for the highway after the project is completed.

Given Awards
Those to whom awards of damages were granted and the awards include Oliver J. Schommer $370, St. Patrick's congregation of Menasha $2,200, Bruno B. Wicinski $13,725, Edward A. Ross $8,025, John H. Becker $1,600, city of Menasha $950, R. C. Bridges $1,150, Alvin H. Otto $5,000;

Ray Grundman $1,200, William T. Bose, Jr., $25,000, Harvey H. Damshouser $825, Carl J. DeLapp $9,800, Harvey O. Fredericks on $7,300, Hartley Controls corporation $850, Inez Kelly $500, Guerdon and Wayne J. Remy $1,100 and Arvin H. Sell $315.

Purchases of right-of-way were recorded from Ethel S. Tress $160, Robert G. Schmidt $2,120, Marian Helder $8,761, Ruth M. Patton $420, Butte, Inc., $2,100, Farms, Inc., $500, L. O. Cooke and others $5,500.

A TESTIMONIAL

From Another Satisfied Customer...

DEAR LORETE,

I can't begin to tell you what your series of scalp treatments have done for me! The dandruff condition that I've endured ever since I can remember is so much improved! Besides each treatment was so relaxing — Remember? You had to awaken me after almost every treatment!

All in all, the treatments were a complete success.

Thanks so much.

Homemaking Coordinator Discusses, Demonstrates Freezing for Club

Menasha — Freezing foods has opened new avenues of leisure and methods have undergone major changes since the days when grandma used to freeze pumpkin and mince-meat pies in the snow. Miss Leona Bovee, homemaking coordinator at Menasha Vocational school, discussed and demonstrated some of the newest freezing advances at the Tuesday afternoon Menasha Homemakers club meeting at the school.

"Your frozen food is only as good as the food you start out with," said Miss Bovee, who spent part of a recent summer studying frozen foods at Colorado A. and M. college. All fruits and vegetables to be frozen should be at their prime, not under-ripe nor over-ripe, she said.

The important thing in freezing is to keep odors either in or out and moisture either in or out, depending upon the food to be frozen, she said. When freezing corn, get it into the freezer as quickly as possible after it has been picked, Miss Bovee advised. Melon balls should be eaten before they are thoroughly thawed, she said.

In freezing tomatoes, select the choicest produce, wash them and wrap, then freeze. Tomatoes, like melon balls, are to be used before completely thawed, she said.

Probably the point that sells frozen food most, is their use for left-overs, said the homemaking coordinator. "Cook with this in mind." Instead of eating chili for four days in a row, freeze the left-over portion in meal-size containers and tuck in the freezer, she said.

In packaging meats, freeze it the way you want to use it, she said, explaining pieces of turkey for sandwiches should be stored in one package and those for other purposes, separately.

"Cakes are nicer if they are baked and then frozen," advised the teacher. When freezing peaches, she suggested placing a small quantity of crumpled paper under the lid of the container to hold the fruit beneath the syrup.

"Don't try freezing a food just once and making a decision," she warned. "If you don't like it, it could be your variety of fruit or vegetable," she said. She pointed out the importance of carefully following directions "rather than trusting the word of Mrs. Jones down the street."

Trotters Gun For Tenth Win At Marinette

Attempt to Repeat Earlier Triumph Over Northerners

Menasha — The Menasha Extension meets another big obstacle on the road to the University of Wisconsin Extension division conference title this afternoon when it travels to Marinette.

The Trotters currently boast a 9-2 record, good enough to tie Sheboygan for the lead while Marinette is in fourth place with an 8-4 record. Racine holds third with 9-3.

Menasha defeated the northerners 87-73 here on Nov. 29. Tom Martin scored 44 points for the winners, John Jooss had 18 and Dick Pagel 17. Bob Kowalski had 24 and Robert Desjardins 18 for Marinette.

Menasha broke its two game losing chain last week by turning back Wausau 68-58. It had won eight straight, before losing the pair to Sheboygan and Racine.

St. Mary JV's Go After 16th Cage Victory

Menasha — St. Mary's jayvees bid for their sixteenth straight win of the season and their ninth in Fox Valley Catholic conference play tonight at Marinette Lourdes.

The Zephyr reserves have clinched the jayvee championship and need only wins tonight and Tuesday against Premontré to wind up their second undefeated season in the last four years.

St. Mary whipped Lourdes 69-24 in their first meeting on Dec. 21. The Menashans led 33-16 at halftime and then held their opponents to eight points in the last two periods while they notched 36. The Shamrocks were limited to eight baskets.

George Walbrun, who is now playing with the varsity, had 17 points for the Zephyrs and Bill Early made eight to top Lourdes. The Marinettes are winless in nine conference tussles.

Macs Launch Bid For League Title
Menasha — The Menasha Macs open their bid for the Eastern Wisconsin Amateur Basketball league championship when they entertain Kiel at 8 o'clock tonight at the Butte des Morts gym.

The second game will be played at Kiel next week and the site for the deciding play-off game, if needed, will be chosen after that.

Menasha, in its second season in the league, won the first half title; Kiel the second. They split during the regular season. Brillion was the defending champion.

The Macs have been handicapped by injuries and illness during second round play and Junior Romella, Ron Rankin, Roy Kramer and Bob Kersten all missed several games. Other squad members are Pete Burghardt, John Wilz, Joe Koslowski, Dick Rohe, Al Pederson, Neal Haack and Clem Massey.

9th Annual State All-Lutheran Pin Meet Opens Sunday at Neenah

Neenah — The ninth annual all-Lutheran bowling Association of Wisconsin tournament will get underway Sunday morning at Lakewood Lanes. The meet, for both men and women bowlers, will continue through March 23.

The entry list includes 215 men's teams, 281 men's doubles and 560 men's singles. Women's totals include 79 teams, 74 doubles and 119 singles.

Last year, when the meet was held at Watertown, there were 211 men's teams, four less than in 1958, and 81 women's quintets or two more than this year's entry total shows.

Enters 36 Teams

Previous tourney sites and team totals included: 1950, New London 67; 1951, Oshkosh 120; 1952, Appleton 138; 1953, Beaver Dam 215; 1954, Clintonville, 220; 1955, Ripon 263, and 1956, Fond du Lac 292.

Oshkosh, tops the state in the number of teams entered in this year's meet with 36. There are 25 from Milwaukee, 23 from Fond du Lac, 19 from Appleton and 17 from Neenah. Menasha has four entries. In all, 58 state communities will be represented.

Prize Lists
The first shift, composed of singles and doubles bowlers, will begin at 10:45 Sunday morning with keggers from Fairwater, Hillsboro, Mauston, Watertown, Oshkosh and Neenah competing.

Team shifts are slated for 1:30 and 3:45 in the afternoon

Holstein Group Names Officers, Cites Breeders

County Association Announces Pickers Clayton Man as President

Oshkosh — Recognition to breeders for progress made with Holstein cows, naming of committees and the election of directors headed activities at the Winnebago county Holstein Breeders association annual meeting Wednesday at American Legion clubhouse here.

A youth committee was named to aid the development of a junior fitting show which may serve as a preliminary for state fair participation by junior Holstein project members.

Howard Beck, route 4, Oshkosh, was named chairman and will be assisted by Earl Hughes, route 1, Neenah, and Carlton Haase, route 2, Neenah. Ray Hloeft, Omro High school vocational agriculture instructor, will be adviser.

O. G. McSchooler, Omro, was named to represent milk marketing projects in conjunction with the Wisconsin Holstein association. Arden Winkenwerder, route 1, Neenah, was elected to the board of directors to fill the unexpired term of Robert Van Alstine, route 2, Omro, who has retired from farming.

Elected Officers

Other directors were reelected and officers elected at a directors meeting, which followed the general meeting, revealed that Louis Jensen, town of Clayton, was renamed president; Lyle Beck, route 3, Oshkosh, vice president; Phil Grundy, route 4, Oshkosh, secretary, and McSchooler, treasurer.

Other directors are Phil Lautenbach, route 2, Fremont, and Arden Winkenwerder.

Several breeders received recognition by the county association. A county fair trophy is held by Arden Winkenwerder for recognition of open class participation at 1956 fair. There was no open class in 1957.

Floyd Whittemarsh, route 2, Omro, received the trophy cup for being the breeders of the champion male in the junior division of the 1957 fair. Everett Lewis, route 1, Omro, was presented a traveling trophy for having the highest milk producing herd in the class of 26 cows or more.

Traveling Trophy

Lyle Beck received a traveling trophy for having the highest milk producing herd in the 25 cows or less class. There are 23 herds in competition in each division.

Robert Brahmer, route 2, Omro, was recognized with a certificate for long-range production concerning his junior herd management project.

President Jensen reported on the various activities sponsored by the county group, including sending four boys to the state association meeting last February, the Fox Valley junior recognition tour, participation in the summer fitting school, recognition to junior at the county fair in the way of championship rosettes and showmanship awards to those entering the best fitted cattle, a summer twilight meeting and a county-wide farm tour.

He announced the Fox Valley association meeting, including local membership, would be in Appleton March 1 at 12 o'clock noon at the American Legion clubhouse.

Neenah — Ralph E. Welter, 63, 1340 W. Franklin street, Appleton, forfeited a bond of $6.20 to Neenah police for an illegal left turn Thursday afternoon after the car he was driving collided with another driven by Mrs. Jerome J. Steinfert, 53 Tayco street, Menasha.

The accident occurred in heavy traffic at N. Commercial street and Canal street at 4:20 Thursday afternoon. Welter admitted to police that he turned left off Canal street, where left turns are prohibited between 3:30 and 6 o'clock.

Also involved in accidents Thursday afternoon were autos driven by Michael G. McKinnon, 18, 133 Law street, Julius A. Mueller, 63, route 5, Oshkosh, and Herbert Ney, Jr., Highway 41, Neenah.

McKinnon's auto struck the corner of the basement wall of the Kenneth Robare home, 519 Washington avenue, at about 12:15 Thursday. He told police that he was eastbound on Washington avenue and slid across the street into the house on an ice patch. The left front end of McKinnon's car was damaged.

Mueller's and Ney's cars collided at about 5:10 at Winneconne avenue and the driveway to Angell Motors at Highway 41.

MHS Students To Talk on Races

Menasha — Six Menasha High school students will give talks on "The Minority Groups in America" during an assembly at 1:15 Monday afternoon, Principal L. A. Wienbergen announced today.

Kay Halversen will talk on the American Jew; Geraldine Robinson, American Puerto Rican; Louis Kubicka, American Mexican; Roland Kippenhan, American Negro; Ron Haass, American Indian, and Nancy Hildebrand, American Chinese. Gary Smarzinski will act as master of ceremonies.

Plans Board Works on New Zoning Law

Winneconne Group Makes Changes in Tentative Ordinance

Winneconne — Planning board members of the village met Thursday afternoon with Robert Roden of the state planning commission and made some changes and additions to the tentative zoning ordinance.

Prior to the village board meeting Thursday evening, Pres. Kenneth Saylor, Ray Weber and Tom Hendry briefed the board on the afternoon meeting. A list of changes and additions to the tentative ordinance is to be sent to Roden's office and a new ordinance and map book will be drawn up. This will become the official ordinance to be presented at a public hearing.

The board instructed L. J. Campbell, chairman of its water and sewer committee, to contact an engineering firm to survey the Ross Commons area and submit an estimate of the cost of extending water and sewer services to that area.

The board also voted to employ the Arwell service of Illinois for rodent and rat extermination at a cost of $180 a year. The company will take charge of the village dumping ground. Permanent warnings signs are to be displayed to warn persons with pets of the dangers.

Salary of Edward Ehke, utility superintendent, was raised from $300 to $315 a month, the pay of Olin Richardson and Leonard Korn, general employees, to $280 a month and the pay for the bridge tenders was increased 10 cents an hour to give them $1.10 an hour for a 56-hour week.

Rubbish Collection

Neenah — Rubbish will be collected Monday in the First ward south of Laudan boulevard and in the Ninth ward, according to City Clerk R. V. Hauser.

2 Cars Damaged in Menasha Accident

Menasha — Autos driven by Mathias M. Schaefer 59, 40 Cherry court, Appleton, and Paul R. Forster, 18, route 2, Menasha, were damaged in an accident in front of 721 Ninth street shortly after 7 o'clock Friday night.

Schaefer told police he had backed out of the driveway at that address and was driving east on Ninth street when Forster's car struck his rear end. Forster said that he saw Schaefer back out into the street and applied his brakes but was unable to stop.

Menasha Boat Dock Work to Begin in March

Menasha — Construction of the Menasha Dock association 43 stall boat dock off Smith park is expected to begin the first week in March and to be completed by April 15, it was announced today.

The dock, to be constructed in the Menasha channel of the Fox river, will be anchored by 100 steel beams. Testings taken showed wooden beams could not be anchored properly in the rock bed at the bottom of the river.

The Intrusion Pre-Pakt company of Cleveland will construct the dock which is expected to cost $12,000.

Boat owners wishing to join the association, which now has 24 members, can do so until March 1. Members must pay dues before construction of the dock begins.

The dock will be constructed of white oak, the same material used in Neenah's dock. The method selected to anchor the structure will allow the dock to withstand 25 tons of pressure per steel rod.

There will be four 27 foot stalls, 20 stalls accommodating 24 foot boats, and 19 stalls measuring 18 feet. The dock will be kept up by the association at its own expenses.

Two Rivers '5' Turns Back Clints, 62-50

Brault Scores 24 As Raiders Move Into 3rd-Place Tie

Two Rivers — Two Rivers' Purple Raiders bounced back from their upset loss at New London last week with a 62-50 triumph over Clintonville Friday night here.

The triumph moved the Raiders into a third place tie with Kimberly and Menasha in Mid-Eastern conference standings. Hitting on only 28 per cent of their floor shots in the first half, the Raiders were in front just 25-21 at the intermission. Clintonville was able to score on just 19 per cent of its field goal tries in the first 16 minutes.

Score Tied, 8-8
The game was tied at 8-8 with 4:02 left in the first quarter. Then the Raiders' Dale Kozlowski hit on a rebound and Ron Brault made three straight layups and Jerry Messman scored a foul shot while Clintonville could add just a single free throw and it was 17-9 after one quarter. Clintonville's 12-8 advantage in the second period cut the deficit.

The hosts shot out in front, 46-33, at the end of three stanzas. Coach Warren Otto substituted frequently in the second half. Brault, driving well, collected 24 points and Kozlowski collected 10 for the winners. Wayne Moder scored 15, Leon Westphal 12 and John Dahly nine for the Clints.

Two Rivers scored on 12 of 21 foul shots, the Trunkers converted just 18 of 37.

The Purple Raiders also topped the "B" game, 56-35. Two Rivers — Clintonville —

Aaron, Crandall Sign for 1958

Hank's Contract Calls for About $40,000

Bradenton, Fla. — A couple of big gaps in the lineup of the world champion Milwaukee Braves were filled Friday night when slugger Hank Aaron, the National League's most valuable player, and Del Crandall came to terms.

In addition to the coveted player award, Aaron led the league with 44 homers and 132 runs driven in as he hit .322 for the season, and of course he got a raise in pay. Telephone Conference Terms were not announced, but it was speculated that the 24-year-old outfielder will get about $40,000, compared with a reported $28,000 to $30,000 in 1957.

A few hours after Aaron came to terms, Quinn announced he had reached agreement with Del Crandall, the Braves' first-string catcher. It was another telephone conference, and Crandall said he would leave his home in Fullerton, Calif. today for the Braves' spring training center here.

Crandall will miss the first few days of early drills for the battery-men. They opened today under the supervision of Manager Fred Haney and his new coaching staff which has Whitlow Wyatt in charge of the pitchers.

Jays Extend Win Skein to 5, Tie for Third in M-E Loop

Selbach Hits 25 as Menasha Squares Account With Ghosts

BY ALLAN EKVAL

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Menasha — Coach Lucian Gajewski's Menasha cagers avenged an earlier defeat and posted their fifth straight win in dumping Kaukauna, 59-47, here Friday night.

Menasha now has a 7-5 Mid-Eastern conference record and is tied for third place. Menasha started off in the lead and stayed strong throughout. The Jays led 26 to 20 at the half and 52 to 31 at the close of the third quarter. The reserves took over after 24 minutes in the final frame when the Jays had a 57-39 lead.

Offensively and defensively, Menasha's Gordy Selbach was all a coach could ask for. Besides scoring 25 points on nine baskets and seven free throws, he stole several passes or dribbled away from the Ghosts and either scored or tossed off to a teammate to add further to the Jay total.

Grab Rebounds
He also joined Tom Stepanowski, Jerry Koslowski and Jim Hanson in snaring many rebounds. Don Nelson turned in 13 points and Koslowski 12 for the next high Jay scorers.

Big Bill Simon and Leroy Weyenberg had the bulk of the rebounds for Kaukauna. Simon paced the Ghosts with 12 points while Jim Walsh and Bill Borchardt had 11 each. Eight of Borchardt's came in the final frame.

Menasha was at its best in the third frame when it hit 10 baskets out of 18 shots. Its shooting for the night came to 41 per cent but much of that was due to only a 25 per cent record in the final period by the reserves.

Kaukauna scored on 18 of its 51 tosses at the hoop for 35.3 per cent Ghost reserves got into the game in the closing minutes.

In the big third quarter, Nelson and Selbach had enviable success with their shots and no matter how Selbach shot, whether underhand or a 1-hand

Howell Gets 3-Year Pact With Giants

New York — Head coach Jim Lee Howell, who is practically a fixture of the New York Football Giants, has been signed to a new 3-year contract with the National Football League club. Terms were not disclosed.

This Is the Type of Possession game Oshkosh used to keep ahead of Appleton's basketball team for most of the first half here Friday night. Jim Nitkowski is freezing the defenders are Jack Ulwelling (12), Bill Bedard (lower left) and John Nussbaum (upper left). The Terrors broke open the Oshkosh strategy in the second half to win, 56-46. CC Rejects Proposal to Allow Trolling

Madison — The Wisconsin Conservation commission refused Friday to permit trolling for fish from a moving motor boat on five inland lakes as an experiment.

A motion to permit such trolling on Shell Lake in Washburn county, Lake Winnebago, Lake Eau Claire in Eau Claire county, Big Green Lake in Green Lake county and Lake Wisconsin, failed by a 3-3 vote. The Wisconsin assembly had directed the commission to establish motor trolling on five lakes and report to the 1959 session.

Commissioner Charles Smith of Wausau led the fight against the Conservation department's proposal to set up the experiment. He said it would be impossible to get a complete analysis of such a program in a 1-year period.

Voting with Smith were Commissioners Guido Rahr of Manitowoc and Arthur MacArthur of Janesville. The battle of wits between

After flitting with upset danger for some 19 minutes here Friday night, Appleton's basketball Terrors righted themselves and squelched a pesky band of Oshkosh Indians, 56-46.

The victory, achieved in a rough, ragged duel of baskets and coaching strategems, was the eighth in succession for the Terrors, who today retain a share of the Fox River Valley conference lead.

Manitowoc, co-holder of first place, gained its tenth FRVC win more easily, blasting Fond du Lac, 88-61, behind Bob Scherer's 39-point spree. The Terrors travel to Sheboygan North tonight, while the Ships entertain Central. Runnersup Green Bay East, which stayed in the title picture with a 49-43 win over Central, meets Fond du Lac tonight.

Oshkosh, which in its last two seasons of second-division occupancy has made a career out of either upsetting or thoroughly scaring AHS, tried its hand at ball control last night. And, it worked exasperatingly well for a long time.

Try Only 10 Shots
The Indians' keep-away tactics paid rich dividends throughout the first half. They led AHS for the entire first two quarters, except for ties at 7 and 9. The Indians restricted AHS' field goal attempts to 20 (of which six found the mark) and tried only 10 shots themselves (sinking four of them) in the first half. Fifteen successful free throws enabled Oshkosh to build a 23-19 halftime edge.

Oshkosh made it a 6-point lead in the first minute of the second half. Then, the "cat-and-mouse" game had its almost inevitable ending. The mouse was crushed.

The Terrors pulled up close, then forged ahead, 27-26 on Dick King's 8-footer with 2 minutes, 42 seconds gone in the third quarter. With the Terrors then in a position to "call the tune," the expected happened.

Unable to run, shoot or rebound with the potent Terrors in a normally-paced game, the Indians never again led and, in fact, fell behind by as much as 15 points.

Kimberly — Deadly accuracy from the free throw line gave the Shawano Indians a 84-70 victory over a fighting Kimberly High school team Friday night here.

The Papermakers outscored the Indians on field goals (31-28) but could not match the sensational charity shooting of the Mid-Eastern conference leaders. Shawano dropped an unbelievable 28 of 31 from the line.

Cornell Quint Wins, 73-68, Over Ripon

Ripon — Cornell never trailed but was forced to turn back a late Ripon challenge Friday night in posting a 73-68 Midwest conference basketball victory.

Ripon trailed, 15-4, after five minutes, was behind, 36-28, at halftime and fell 17 points back in the second half before coming up with its only threat of the game. The Redmen closed the gap to 70-66 with a minute and a half remaining, but Cornell hung on for the victory, its seventh in 12 conference starts.

The Redmen, led by the 25 points of Gordy Rush, are 4-9 in the conference. Bill Robinson put in 17 points for Cornell.

as the two teams blazed away for the next three periods. Marty Gharrity and John Cantwell, Shawano's pace setters displayed why they rated as two of the best shots in the loop. Cantwell had the best point total for the game as he bagged 31 and Gharrity had 28. Jack Lamers paced the Papermakers with 21 markers, and soph Darrell Jansen had 19. senior Hank Peerenboom had one of his best nights with nine baskets for 18 points.

Cantwell hit consistently from long range. Midway in the third period Kimberly was in the game, trailing by a 39-34 count when Cantwell went on a spree and hit three straight buckets and followed these up with three consecutive free throws.

Shawano's point-scoring pair set the pace in the final quarter, with Cantwell getting 10 and Gharrity nine. Shawano romped to a 22-15 lead early in the second period. With less than a minute left in the half the Indians had a 33-23 margin but Peerenboom hit on a jump and Warren Polman dropped one from the middle of the court just as the horn sounded.

Kimberly had a 21-20 scoring advantage in the third frame. Lamers, who had been held to a pair of free throws in the first two periods began to get the scoring pace. He had nine points in the third period and 10 in the last.

Shawano counted 29 points in the final quarter and 15 of them were on free throws. Gharrity had 12 of 14 from the line in the game and Cantwell hit nine straight.

Kimberly made only eight free throws but had only 14 chances in the tilt. A total of 18 fouls were tatted against the Papermakers while Shawano was called for 11.

New London Trails by 21 After 3 Periods

BY DICK McDANIEL

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

New London — The Neenah Rockets almost had a "flame-out" in the fourth quarter here Friday night as they eked out a narrow, 60-57 decision over a scrappy New London Bulldog quintet that trailed by 21 points at the close of the third period of a blistering Mid-Eastern conference game.

Husky Dave Thomsen, a Neenah guard, spelled out the final decision with a stellar shooting exhibition in the third quarter. Thomsen had six shots at the basket during the opening five minutes of the period and he connected on all six—without even touching the rim. He missed his seventh shot of the period with a little over two minutes remaining.

Behind Thomsen's sharp shooting, the Rockets outscored the Bulldogs, 23-5, in the third quarter.

Rip Through Reserves
Trailing, 56-35, at the start of the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs ripped through the Neenah reserves with a 14-point attack during the first four minutes of the quarter. Tom Beckman, Dale Monsour and Bob Elsholtz shared the limelight with two baskets apiece and the other 2-pointers was scored by Cameron Gorges.

With 31 minutes left in the quarter, Coach Ole Jorgensen returned his starting quintet to the court while the Rockets still held a 58-49 edge. The Bulldogs, however, met the challenge with another four points in the next 20 seconds. The Rockets then called a time out and Coach Jorgensen instructed his team to go into a stall during the final 3 minutes.

Weyauwega — Central Wisconsin champion Wittenberg got a real battle for three quarters but then moved away in the final period to post a 61-52 win over Weyauwega here Friday night. The win boosted the Maroons' overall record to 16-1.

The Indians' loss kept them in a third place tie in final CW standings with Iola, which also lost.

Wittenberg won the game from the free throw line with 19 for 32. Weyauwega collected just eight in 20 attempts, though hitting one more field goal than Wittenberg's 21. Ted Berendt collected 20 points on five buckets and 10 of 18 free throws to lead Wittenberg. Russ Klug scored 19 for the Indians before fouling out late in the fourth quarter.

The Indians, behind just 38-34 going into the final period, fouled 27 times.

Kohler 62, Kiel 55.
Brillion 68, Elkhart Lake 55.

New Holstein — Homestanding Valders rocked the Eastern Wisconsin conference Friday night with a stunning, 68-55 defeat of previously unbeaten Plymouth.

The setback granted Kohler a share of first place in final conference standings. Both Kohler and Plymouth have completed their circuit seasons.

The upset of Plymouth, Wisconsin's twelfth-ranked "Big Sixteen" school in latest WIAA ratings, was accomplished when Valders' Dean Cristlan dropped in a rebound bucket with five seconds to go for the victory margin. With two seconds left Plymouth's Jerry Klemme missed two potential game-winning free throws. Plymouth's season record is now 15-1.

Other Action

In other action Brillion defeated Elkhart Lake, 68-55, to finish its circuit season with a 4-8 mark.

The Lions received a 27-point scoring effort from Bob Hanson. They were held to a 18-all first period standstill but went on top to stay in the second quarter at the end of which they owned a 33-28 lead. Clarence Richter topped Elkhart Lake with 13 points.

Howards Grove High Rallies for Narrow Triumph

Howards Grove — In a battle for third place in the Kettle Moraine conference, Howards Grove edged Stockbridge, 56-55, in a see-saw high school basketball game played here Friday night.

With 14 minutes remaining in the game, Stockbridge held a 3-point lead, 53-50. Wayne Reinemann dumped in two free throws and the Indians went into a stall with a 1-point lead.

On a backcourt violation, the visitors lost the ball and Carl Harms sank a jump shot to put Howards Grove into the lead, 54-53. Then, Jerry Sprenger was fouled by Phil Westenberg and Sprenger sank both free shots to clinch the victory. With five seconds to go, Ray Heimer dumped in a bucket for the losers.

Green Knight '5' Gets Chance to Win Tournery Berth

Stevens Point — St. Norbert, Milton and the eventual winner of the State College conference title were named Friday to play off for the Wisconsin berth in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball tournament opening in Kansas City on March 10.

St. Norbert and Milton will meet at De Pere on the Green Knight court on March 3. The winner of that game will meet the college conference champion, either March 6 or 7 to decide the District 14 representative.

Don Kaiser Rejected For Army Service

Milwaukee — Don Kaiser, pitcher acquired by the Milwaukee Braves in a 5-player deal with the Cubs last December, has been ruled 4-F by his draft board, the Braves said Friday.

Kaiser notified the club that he is ineligible for army service because of an ear condition. He lives in Ada, Okla.

Boxing's Heavyweight Division Is Back in Old-Time 'Tizzy'

New York — The heavyweight division was in an old-time "tizzy" today. Argentina's nose-slashed Alex Miteff and Sweden's undefeated Ingemar Johansson, the winners in Friday's two major fights, said they wanted no part of world champion Floyd Patterson right now.

Cuba's hulking Nino Valdes, who does want a title shot, still screamed "I wuz robbed."

Word for Word

"Banditos (bandits)," howled Valdes, a 6-3, 209-pound giant, whose right eye was swollen grotesquely. "Robbers Burglars!" he added for the benefit of English-speaking newsmen, and then lapsed into Spanish again.

His manager, voluble Bobby Gleason, matched Nino word for word but said he would not make any formal protest to the commission.

About 50 Are In Running for MU Cage Job

Mullins Says It May Take 6 Weeks To Pick Coach

Milwaukee —(A)— About 50 coaches are in the competition for the head basketball coaching job at Marquette university, but Athletic Director Larry "Moon" Mullins said Friday night it may be six weeks before the situation is clarified. Applications were filed by some of the candidates, but the university contacted others. Mullins explained saying, "We are interested only in whether a man is capable of developing players. We're in no hurry. Each case will be considered on its merits."

Among those approached by the university is Jim Harding of Loyola of the South at New Orleans. He formerly coached at Marquette high in Milwaukee.

Mullins said that Harding is interested, and the university has asked permission of Loyola officials to contact him.

Also contacted by Marquette was Bill Knapton, Warrior assistant coach for three years before taking over as head coach at Beloit college last year. He did not file an application, but Beloit authorities cleared the way for Marquette to get in touch with him.

Marquette also received a tip about Paul Walker, whose Midwestern, Ohio High school team has won 69 straight games, and he was contacted.

The Warriors are seeking a successor to Jack Nagle, who has submitted his resignation, but will remain until the end of the school year. The job pays about $8,000 a year. Nagle said he was leaving for personal reasons.

Delany Bids For AAU Title Tonight

New York —(A)— Record-reliant Ron Delany, the turkey-trotting Irishman, has won 20 straight indoor mile races and tonight will go for No. 21 in the National AAU championships—the big one of the year—in Madison Square garden.

Can he make it? The only one who can supply the answer is Istvan Rozsavolgyi, who holds the world's records at 1,000, 1,500 and 2,000 meters—and he isn't talking, even in Hungarian.

Obviously, there is no one making the present circuit who can hope to give Delany, the Olympic 1,500-meter champion from Villanova, a race except Rozsavolgyi. And, strictly speaking, Rozsavolgyi isn't making the circuit. He's here for three races.

Last week, in his first effort on boards, he dropped a 4-yard decision to Delany, trying to outkick Ron in the stretch. That's track suicide. On the assumption that he has learned something this time, Istvan should give Delany a closer race and perhaps push Ron down around 4:04.

If Rozsavolgyi can make it real interesting, Delany may break Nielsen's world indoor record of 4:03.6. However, Delany has made it patent plain that he isn't going to try for the mark unless he's pushed.

Port Manager To Take Part In State Talks

Max Sagunsky Will Preside at Madison
Trade Convention

Max Sagunsky, manager of the Outagamie county airport and president of the Wisconsin Aviation Trades association, will participate in several events during the group's annual meeting Tuesday and Wednesday in Madison.

As president, he will offer opening remarks and introductions when the session begins. He also will moderate a panel, "The National Picture," Wednesday afternoon.

The key panel of the convention will be a panel on space problems. Speakers will be F. E. Wolf, Madison, operations consultant for the Wisconsin State Aeronautics commission; James H. Herrick, Wichita, Kans., manager of the market development division of Cessna Aircraft company; Wilfred Dotter, Chicago, chief pilot for International Harvester company; and William A. Simpson, Washington, D.C., secretary of the aerospace panel of the air coordinating committee.

Other discussions will cover aircraft and airport maintenance and training and education.

Activities also will include a past presidents luncheon, a business meeting and entertainment.

First In Series of Union Lent Services Scheduled for Sunday

The first in a series of Sunday evening union lent services sponsored by the Appleton Ministerial association will be at 7:30 Sunday evening at Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren church.

The Rev. Clifford Pierson, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, will preach on "Beware of Self-Denial" and the Rev. Robert Davies, pastor of the Greenville - Center EUB churches will read the scripture and offer the prayer.

Successive Sunday evening services will be held at First Congregational First Methodist, St. John Evangelical and Reformed churches, Lawrence college chapel, and Memorial Presbyterian church.

Mather Rink Beaten in ACC 'Spiel

The defending champion Harold "Red" Mather rink was eliminated from the first event of the Appleton Curling club's invitational bonspiel Friday night. Chicago's Jim Murray beat Wauwatosa's Mather, 8-6.

Two Appleton rinks — Clarence Robertson and Lew Phennor — remain in contention for the first-event title. Robertson beat Arthur Finley, Waltham, Ill., Friday, 9-7. Phennor defeated fellow club member Bob McGee, 11-7. Earlier in the day McGee had won his second straight match, 11-5, by beating Wauwatosa's Carl Gray.

Other first-event results Friday: Dale Wilson, Waltham, beat Appleton's Wayne Bryan, 12-9; Chicago's Mel Cribbs beat Appleton's Otto Sherry, 11-7; Wild Rose's Larry Hart beat Wausau's Wayne Myers, 7-6; and Wauwatosa's Bob Roland beat Wauwatosa's Dan Muller, 10-6.

In second-event action, it was Clintonville's Bob Winkler, 8; Madison's Walter Rhodes, 6; Lawrence college's Neil Collins, 8; Waupaca's Dr. G. E. Wickman, 5; Appleton's Al Adams, 10; Clintonville's Joe Petcka, 6; Myers, 10; Bryan, 6; Sherry, 10; Muller, 4; Mather, 8; Finley, 7.

Paper Industry Not Active Enough In Water Use Talks, Strange Says

Strange

The pulp and paper industry is doing a good job on the technical phases of water, but has not participated sufficiently in the country-wide discussions and debates on the broad sociological, economic and political issues of water use and water conservation.

John G. Strange told the New York meeting of the American Paper and Pulp Association.

Strange, president of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, told industry leaders that the technical aspect of water problems are relatively straight forward.

"The real problems are those which involve policy, principle, concept and equity, and as such they are problems which should be high, if not first, on the agenda of management—and especially the management of this industry," Strange declared.

Water Usage

Pointing out that the industry had not been sufficiently active, Strange said, "We have, in short, been either too silent or too defensive in our position. This is distressing for two reasons; first, because water is absolutely critical to our industry welfare, and, second, because we are in an unusual, if not unique, position to contribute to the formulation of sound policies."

The paper and pulp industry is the third largest industrial water user, accounting for about 13 per cent of the total industrial withdrawal of water.

Seminary Choir Will Sing Here

City Still in Running for State Study

Delinquency Project
In Planning Stages,
6-Member Group Says

Appleton still is under consideration, along with eight or nine other communities, as a possible site for a state study of juvenile delinquency.

That was the report of a 6-member group that went to Madison Friday to interview Wilbur J. Schmidt, director of the state department of public welfare, and Gov. Vernon Thomson.

According to F. Joseph Sensenbrenner, member of the Appleton Community council's board of directors and spokesman for the group, Schmidt said various avenues of getting sufficient funds for the project still are being explored.

Communities Apply

Once funds are attained and an outline of procedure established, an advisory committee of citizens from over the state will be formed to study applications from various communities interested in being the location of the demonstration project. The advisory committee will take its recommendations to the department of public welfare, where the final decision will be made.

With Sensenbrenner were Miss Martha Sorensen, Community council president; Gus Zuehlke, chamber of commerce vice president; Mayor Robert Roemer; Alfred Eggert, director of the Outagamie county department of public welfare; and Daniel Williams, Combined Locks, chairman of the public welfare committee of the county board.

Upstream Dams

Reasons cited by Strange for the upstream dams were that it is more efficient because of consideration given watersheds, as the fundamental unit in water conservation, more democratic because the surrounding communities must display initiative and assume responsibility, less expensive because the costs are shared along the line and the final projects are less massive, more flexible because it does not commit an entire river basin to a fixed use pattern, and most effective and equitable way of determining the need and location of the large multi-purpose dams of the future.

Since the paper industry uses a large amount of water and since it owns about 47,000 square miles of forest land where about seven times as much water is collected as the industry uses, the paper industry is particularly qualified to play a prominent part in water problems, Strange declared.

He concluded, "I would suggest that we do so in a concerted way by contributing to the factual and technical information which is so badly needed and by expressing our views on the legal, social and economic issues which over-ride all other considerations in their importance."

Laird Berates Dairy Stand of Farm Federation

Washington — Rep. Melvin R. Laird today blasted Washington headquarters of the National Farm federation for its failure to recognize the Wisconsin Farm bureau's views on dairy support prices while testifying before the house agriculture subcommittee.

In a letter to the Farm bureau's national headquarters, Laird berated officials for their "recommendation to lower dairy support prices from $3.25 per hundred weight for manufactured milk to $3.02. He also criticized headquarters for ignoring the "minority" report filed by the Wisconsin Farm bureau in which they expressed the belief that present support levels should not be cut in April.

The congressman said the Wisconsin bureau, with its 36,000 members, endorsed his bill "freezing" supports at no lower than the present price of $3.25.

Fireman Called for Automobile Trouble

Clintonville — The Clintonville Volunteer fire department was called at noon Friday when a car appeared to be on fire at 165 N. Main street. The car was owned by Art Hill. The trouble was brought under control without having to use the fire apparatus.

Bus Route Hearing

The state public service commission will hold a public hearing March 3 in Oshkosh on Central Greyhound Lines' application to discontinue a bus run between Oshkosh and Stevens Point.

Miller Electric Establishes Fire, First Aid Team

Miller Electric Manufacturing company, Inc., has formed a fire fighting and rescue team, according to J. G. Waldron, firm advertising manager.

Twenty-two employees have volunteered to attend team training sessions, he stated. The men are divided into two groups — one for fire fighting and the other for first aid and rescue work.

The team met this week to study Red Cross first aid techniques. Mrs. Jeanne Reubold, Red Cross first aid instructor, led the discussion.

Team officers include Clarence Weisbeck, assistant supervisor, William Swick, fire captain, Frank Krueger, first aid captain, and Warren Rice, supervisor.

Mason street, will be at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Brettschneider Funeral home, with burial in Highland Memorial park. The Rev. H. P. Humbert, pastor of First Baptist church, will officiate. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Women of the Moose will hold a service at the funeral home at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Mrs. Delrow died Friday morning.

Among the survivors is a half-sister, Mrs. Beulah Johnson, LaCrosse.
